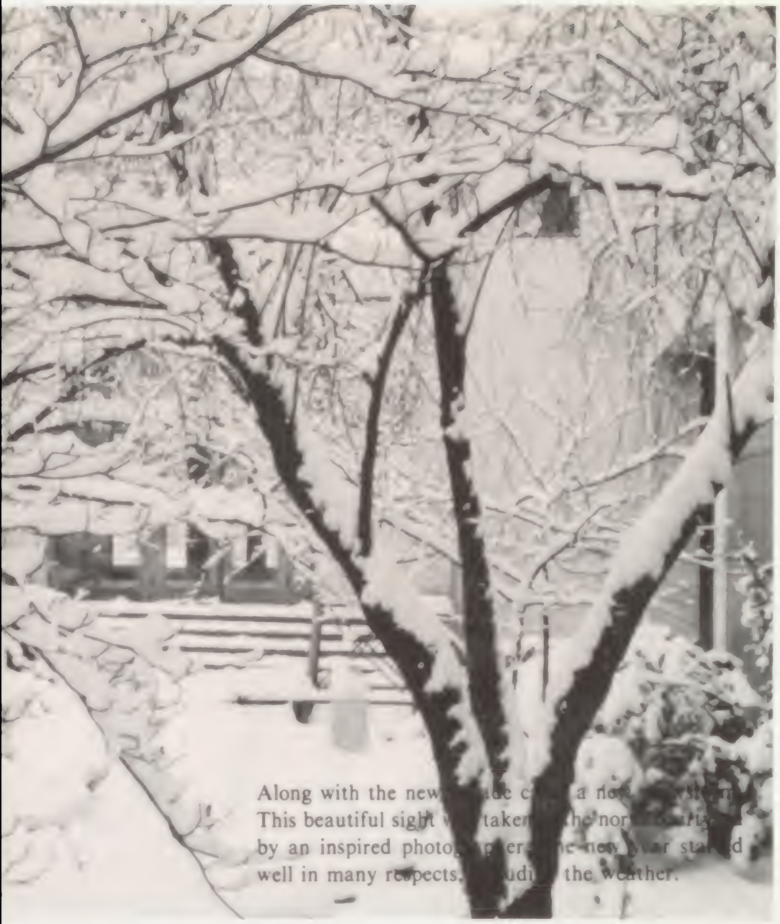
Things that are old and things that are new . . . These thoughts passed through the minds of all as the decade of the '80s ended and the '90s began.

At the stroke of midnight on Dec. 31, everyone was celebrating both a new year and a new decade. Some people watched the ball drop in New York; some went to parties or spent the night with friends. Old and new acquaintances met and a night of fun and memories was shared.

At East we have our own memories and traditions. Among them are selling elevator tickets to the freshmen, the various dances sponsored by several organizations and the unbounded school spirit. Students showed their spirit by getting involved in cheering and appreciating the effort of all.

Here is a sample of what



Along with the new decade came a [illegible] storm. This beautiful sight was taken [illegible] the north [illegible] by an inspired photographer. The new year started well in many respects, including the weather.

some East students feel about the new year, the new decade, at East.

Amber Proksa, senior: "The '90s have gotten off to a really positive start and it looks as if things will keep getting better. I think students are becoming more aware of what's going on in the world and that makes the future even more promising."

Mike Robinson, senior: "The '90s have been pretty good to me. Graduation is coming up, and so is college. Hopefully the '90s will end as great as the '80s."

Mark Lee, freshman: "As a new freshman, I've noticed that there is a tremendous amount of school pride and spirit. It makes me aware of how important it is that we, as a school, become united. I hope my Class of '93 will be as great as the Class of '90 was."

Boualay Lovan, senior: "I hope the new decade will bring more happiness for all different types of people. Also, I'm glad we are the first class of the 1990's!"

Lissa Fisher, junior: "I hope the new decade will bring a cure for AIDS. I also hope it will bring peace for the whole world."

Trudi Van Buskirk, junior: "I would like to see the Class of 1991 have a really successful year. I think the Class of 1990 has given East High more to look forward to in the new decade!"

Shananne Dullard, senior: "There have been many traditions that will surely carry on, such as freshmen being tortured by the seniors and seniors being tortured by Mrs. Kay McCollum, Advanced Senior English teacher."

Is senior Liz Khoang jumping for joy or is it because she's wild about tradition?! Maybe because graduation is coming up. No one knows but her!

Junior Scott McKinney wonders what has gotten into senior Liz Khoang as she is caught in an instant of superlative form. Could it be senioritis or is it that her education career is about to end and real life is about to begin!?

about STUDENT LIFE

Football fans spent their fall in the stands. Varsity football closed with an excellent season record of 9-2, including a win and a loss in state playoff games.

Students were made more aware of the world around them. There were many plane crashes and several more tragedies, such as Hurricane Hugo and the San Francisco earthquake. One of the plane crashes took place in Sioux City, Ia.

On the lighter side of life, many people attended the school mixers and dances. In its first year, the Homecoming Carnival proved a huge success, as did the traditional dance put on by Student Government. The 12-B Formal was put together, as usual, by a large group of senior girls and was held the last week in December. Another traditional event, Spinsters' Spree, was held the first Saturday in February for Valentine's Day. It was sponsored by Pep "E" Club. Of course, the final big event, especially for seniors, was the Junior-Senior Prom.

Games, big wheel rides, and attractions made the Homecoming Carnival the place to be. It was a new addition to the normal festivities of Homecoming Week. Shown is a powder-puff team at tug-o-war.

Carnival brightens Homecoming

Pride and tradition. These are the two main elements that describe East High School. Homecoming Week 1989 not only elevated the spirit of its dedicated student body, faculty and boosters, but it also set standards of involvement and excitement throughout the metro. Homecoming Week traditionally brought the powder-puff football game and the students dressing according to the designated "dress code" of each day of the week. Homecoming Week had extra excitement this year: a carnival. The carnival added fun, laughs and games to the most exciting week of the entire school year.

Monday started the week with Farmer Day. All of East's "city slickers" could be seen in "country bumpkin" styles of clothing. Included in this attire were bib overalls, flannel shirts, hats from the farmer's favorite "co-op," rubber boots, straw hats and working gloves. To accessorize this "farmer" look, some students chose to chew on foxtails (a type of weed) or to stick a couple of daisies in their hair. "Pig tails" were worn by most girls, and fake freckles were worn by many. East High definitely had the cutest "farmers" that could be found anywhere throughout the Heartland!

Calling all "Beach Bums," "Lounge chair Lizards" and Surfers! Tuesday, or Beach Day, turned all male students into "Dudes" and all female students into "Dudettes." The smell of the tropics filled the halls of East as students glopped on their favorite tanning oils and lotions scented with coconut, pina colada and cocoa butter. Zinc oxide could be seen on the noses of the kids on the "beach" (the hallway) so the sun's rays (the lights on the ceiling's glows) would not burn them. Swimming suits, shorts, thongs, sandals, beach towels, sun glasses, visors, frisbees and beach balls all made their appearance on the "hottest" day of Homecoming Week — Beach Day. Beach Day was filled with fun, but it reminded all that summer was over, so all celebrated until the sun went down. This was like the last day at the beach.

Wednesday celebrated the twentieth anniversary of Woodstock. Seeing the students dressed hippie-style, some people had to do a double-take because of the astonishing resemblances the fake hippies had to real hippies like Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin. Bell bottoms, butter-fly collars, love beads, tie-dyed outfits and John Lennon-style, wire-rimmed glasses could be seen on many of East's "hippies."

Boot, Hat and Tie Day, the carnival and the powder-puff game all took place on Thursday.Students wore their favorite boots, hats and ties (usually borrowed from their fathers) and looked quite silly.

The Homecoming Carnival, put on by Student Government, started a new tradition. Students got involved in many activities, including dunking other students in the dunk tank, throwing pies in the faces of the Homecoming Court, basketball tosses, volleyball games, completing obstacle courses and the event that demanded skill, talent and precision — the big-wheel race.

The powder-puff cheerleaders rooted the senior-freshman powder puff football players on to a stomping victory over the junior-sophomore team. After the game, students took part in tug-of-war and the mixer.

Spirit Day, on Friday, brought the end to an eventful Homecoming Week. Red and black colors were worn by almost all Scarlets to show their spirit, pride and support for their great school.

Senior Doug Ripley screams as he is dunked in the dunk tank. His expression appears to reflect the unexpectedness of this particular journey into the tank. The dunk tank was a favorite attraction at the Homecoming Carnival. Dunking Doug provided enjoyment to all that sought friendly revenge, and cooled Doug off on this warm day.

These "cute" cheerleaders boosted school spirit for all who dared to look at them.

Homecoming Week ends in fun

The festivities of Homecoming Week were brought to a close Friday, Oct. 13, and Saturday, Oct. 14. After having their spirit aroused by the assembly on Friday, a large crowd of Scarlets attended the Homecoming Dance on Saturday.

The Homecoming Assembly featured dynamic performances by the Steppers, spirited cheers by the Cheerleaders and a powerful performance by the Color Guard. The assembly was highlighted by the coronation of the new Homecoming Queen. Much to her surprise and delight, Lynn Raymond was elected Homecoming Queen.

The evening after the assembly, hordes of students descended upon the gym to take part in the Homecoming Dance. This year's theme was "Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining." The colors were dark blue, silver and gray, and the song was "Shower Me With Your Love."

Much fun was had by all, at both the assembly and the dance.

The East High Scarlets dance the night away at the Homecoming Dance. The dance was held in the gym Saturday, Oct. 14, from 8 to 11. Music was provided by Rockin DJ. The theme was "Every Cloud Has A Silver Lining" and the song was "Shower Me With Your Love."

Hostesses change Cloud Room into iridescent paradise for 12-B dance

The annual 12-B Formal Dance, hosted by 58 senior girls, was held in The Cloud Room at the Des Moines International Airport Friday, Dec. 29.

Couples could watch the airplanes come swooping down in the icy, bitter cold night, while dancing to the music of disc jockey Rockin' Rick.

The girls spent many Tuesday mornings in Mrs. Gwenn Copple's room deciding on who was going to take the pictures, what the theme, song and colors would be, what wine glasses they wanted, who was going to cater the food and who was going to play the music.

After weeks of deciding, the girls decided on Grant and Jolesch for pictures, "Looking Through the Eyes of Love" for the song, "Ice Castles" for the theme, iridescent colors, Hiland Park Bakery for the cookies and, for the music, DJ Rockin' Rick.

Considering the fact that it was a cold, icy evening, the dance turned out to be a great success. One 12-B hostess, Nicole Lester, commented, "I've always looked forward to being a 12-B hostess, which proved to be an awesome experience. The 12-B was a great success, and I had tons of fun."

12-B hostess, Jenny Sparrgrove, and her date, alumnus Tad Squires, take time out at the refreshments table. The cookies were from Highland Park Bakery.

Seniors Julie Anderson and Sone Philavanh dance the night away after being named King and Queen. For this year's Spree, the song was "The Arms of Orion" from the hit movie, "Batman."

Clowns, balloons, a fortune teller, a ferris wheel and the Midway Cafe. If it hadn't been February with six inches of snow on the ground, you might have thought you were at the Iowa State Fair, but you were at the 1990 Spinster Spree.

This year's dance, "Carnival Under the Stars," was a big success. Thanks to Mr. Larry Winegar, Mr. Marty Mohler and their shop classes, the Pep "E" Club had a 10-foot ferris wheel at the dance.

Also, Mrs. Susan Stroope was the fortune teller, and Mr. Ray Patrilla was the "no-good jailer."

Along with getting married, couples could also rid themselves of their spouses in the divorce court. The divorce court was a new addition to Spree.

Julie Anderson and Sone Philavanh had the shining moment of being crowned Spree King and Queen and danced to the song "Arms of Orion."

The "Carnival Under the Stars" gave old-fashioned fun to a new generation.

The earthquake which struck on Oct. [illegible] 6.9 on the Richter scale.

A catastrophic earthquake rocked Northern California on Oct. 17, killing at least 62 people and injuring hundreds, caving in bridges and freeways, igniting fires and causing widespread damage to buildings.

The quake, which struck during the evening rush hour, just as Game #3 of the World Series was about to begin, registered 6.9 on the Richter scale.

Leaving a trail of death and destruction across the Caribbean, Hurricane Hugo smashed into the coastal city of Charleston, S.C., on Sept. 22, 1989. Hugo's 135-mile-an-hour winds snapped power lines, toppled trees and flooded the low-lying areas of South Carolina, causing more than half a million people to flee, and leaving thousands homeless.

The Supreme Court limited the power of the states to outlaw the destruction of the American flag. Justice William J. Brennan, writing for the court, said, "If there is a bedrock principal underlying the First Amendment, it is simply because society finds the idea itself offensive or disagreeable."

A United Airlines pilot, captain Al Haynes, declared, "There is no hero" in the fiery DC 10 crash, which happened in Sioux City, Ia., July 19, 1989. Amazingly the survivors outnumbered the fatalities. Of the 296 people on board, 185 survived. "We must never forget that 111 people perished in this accident. This crew . . . is dedicated to finding the cause of this accident so that we can never let it happen again," said Haynes.

Cincinnati Reds Manager Pete Rose, one of the greatest players in the history of baseball, was banned for life from the game for betting on his own team. Rose, who continued to deny he bet on baseball, can apply for reinstatement after one year. Even if he's turned down, the game's most prolific hitter will still be eligible for election to the Hall of Fame in 1992.

White Horses

Come marry me in June and take my hand,
When roses are red and the grass is lime;
Then place on my finger a golden band
That will stay there until the end of time.

Love's eyes are as blue as a sweet spring sky,
So I think of my love — I see your face.
You say that you love me; don't wonder why.
Imagine me wearing a veil of lace.

The sun shines bright as if it's afire.
In the winter you warm me from the cold,
So love in my heart will never expire.
We will be entwined until we are old.

White horses are leading our carriage
Through good,through bad, sweet man, in our marriage.

The Death and Rebirth of Thought

Terror, death, flashing lights pierce the night sky.
Death has cut loose all his worries and strife.
Stripped of restrictions, he is free to fly.
Free now to live, he's been dead all his life.

The problem with society is this:
People condemn our music and our books,
The things that set us free. They cry and hiss:
"Down with rock and roll and the evil books."

TV, magazines, mind-washing demons:
They keep us from thinking smoothly, freely.
Looking for escape, inner mind, feelings.
A man's thoughts drift, to find his identity.

When a man truly thinks, for cause, for fun,
We see what has risen: a bright new sun.

Aaron Johnson

The Lord Giveth and Science Taketh Away

Scientists say the big bang doth create
The earth but a shard blown out of orbit.
They say there is proof to substantiate;
Why believe it, if I did not see it?

Theologians say creation by God;
It all depends on one's point of view.
Birdbrained, says an atheist from Cape Cod.
Should I believe it? I haven't a clue.

Evolutionists say I came from apes.
It's possible, and for some there's no doubt.
Who wrote the book? My memory escapes,
But next to my theory, this one strikes out.

These theories I fear all day we could list,
So I'll say the world doesn't exist!

Undying Devotion and Love

My love for you was said to be untrue
Only because you are not fair of face.
But I pledge to you I haven't a clue
As to why they have presented this case.

You are not the smartest, but neither dumb,
But that is not that important to me.
When we are together I have such fun,
You are everything I need to be.

And I try to put these rumors to rest,
But they say my love is only a lie,
And now they want to give my love a test.
I told them all odds our love could defy.

I swear my love for you is forever
Since our joy is my strongest endeavor.

FRIENDSHIP

Long winter evenings, saved only to talk
With that special friend you care about most.
Hot summer mornings to take for a walk,
Making a friend to all others you boast.

Friends don't tell others everything they can,
Even though it may be easy that way.
It's nice to know they lend a helping hand,
'Cause oftentimes it's what you need each day.

They are the ones who are always there for you;
The best friends are those you want to be with.
They can console you when you cry boo-hoo,
And cheer with you through the glamour and gliss.

Friends are always able to be the best.
You say you don't need them; surely you jest!

The Sports Life

All-for-one, one-for-all, go-East High-go!
Volleyball is the number one best sport.
The greatest team is East High's, as we know,
Bumping, setting, slamming on the new court.

November through February is near,
With Tiby and Doyle coaching, what a match!
Isn't this going to be a great year,
With the five seniors? What an awesome batch!

Hurdles, discus, shot put, long jump, high jump
Are the field events for those who can't run.
Consistency and attitude are humps,
But together we are a team with fun.

Writing this sonnet has taken my might;
Oh no, I have a crucial game tonight.

Nicole Lester

Life Goes On

Sometimes life gets tough and treats you unfair.
It can deal you disappointments and blows.
You start to think that nobody is there,
And you worry and wonder if it shows.

You call out for help, in hopes that a friend
Will notice how you're feeling inside.
But nobody cares if you're at the end,
Or if you go far away and hide.

But if you just give up without a fight,
The only one to get hurt will be you.
And you know deep down that wouldn't be right
'Cause giving up is the wrong thing to do.

You've got to remember, when things go wrong,
To look at the bright side, 'cause life goes on.

Fifty-Five Chevy

It was created from glass and metal.
No one knows its past or history.
Three, two, and one; it took all those metals.
They come, look, admire and hear the story.

It has a heart of polished steel.
The engine roars and sounds its battle cry.
It propels along the road on chrome wheels.
In the heart a fire burns that never dies.

Paint glimmers, sparkles and glitters like gold.
Yellow like the sun and white like the clouds.
Time is very kind at thirty-five years old.
Awe and admiration make up the crowds.

Each car show it attends, it takes by storm.
No other fifty-five has its grace and form.

Don't you just hate finding the perfect parking space and then . . . your car won't fit into it! By the time our children are able to drive, they won't have to worry about it. The great innovation of the '90s will be the expandable car. It is a car that will be able to crunch itself down to park it and then expand again for highway trips. Honda's already got an expandable car in development — the Honda accordion.

about PEOPLE

We're wild about our Scarlets. This was one of the best bunches of Scarlets East has ever had. Although our enrollment went down slightly, it didn't dim the spirit at all.

East High students were involved with many activities. Some of these activities might include Student Government, football or cheerleading. There was never a dull moment when an East High Scarlet was involved.

East also tried out new policies concerning attendance. If you were absent from a class during the school day, a computer called your house to inform your parents of the absence.

Freshmen played the proverbial "guinea pigs." Freshmen were required to carry red binders for all their classes. These folders provided more organization so that the students could strive for success.

Seniors Ron Reidburn, Doug Ripley and Scott Wagner show their school spirit by painting their faces. Instead of Ten Little Indians, we had Three Little Indians here at East.

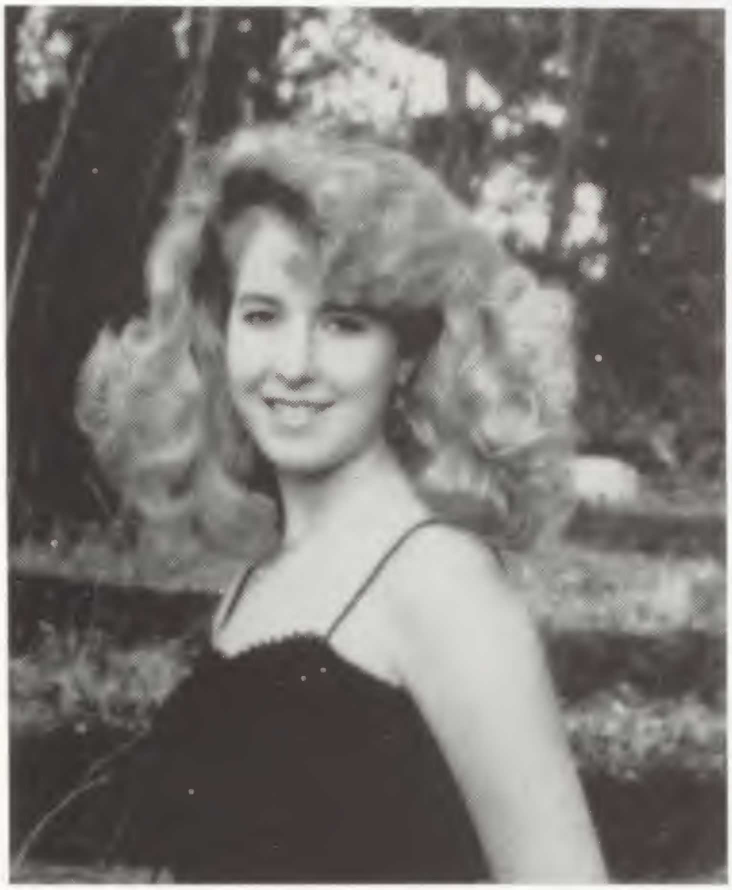
Memories of seniors not to be forgotten

EAST HIGH SCHOOL
CLASS OF 1990

Remembering our cherished friend



When I see the rain falling,
I know that it's you,
crying with me.

And when I see the sun shining,
I know that it's you,
laughing with me.

But wherever I go,
and whatever I do,
it's when the wind blows
that I know it's you, for Jenn,
You are the wind beneath my wings.

Shawna Fetters

In loving memory

Graduates recall past experiences and look ahead

Friends that were old
and friends that were new,
And that special friend that always was true.

Growing up together, and then
drifting apart,
Always was an ending and now a new start.

As graduation appears with the friends that we've met,
We talk about times
that we'll never forget.

We hold our heads high
as we bid our last farewell.
Where life will lead us
only time will tell.

A "Keep in touch" and a "Promise I will,"
A "Remember when," then all is still.

A place in my heart the memories will stay,
As we say our good-bye's
and go on our way.

Seniors

Spirited senior students achieve memorable honors

If there is one thing that sticks out on these two pages, it is student involvement. The Class of 1990 has a great deal to be proud of.

The varsity football team excelled and went all the way to playoffs. The girls' swimming team broke several records, and the volleyball team went all the way to state for a second year and had a season record of 94-40. The boys' cross country team did extremely well, also breaking many records.

The Color Guard finished first for the third consecutive year at state, and the Steppers had an excellent year, placing second and third at state.

Most spring sports looked very promising. With their spirits soaring, the Cheerleaders led the student body in getting more involved than ever before.

For every success, there is a loss; for every smile, there comes a tear. The Class of 1990 has strived to succeed. Where some ground was gained, some was lost. But for every possible gain or failure, one can say that we, the Class of 1990, tried to leave the school with a sense that we are very proud to be the 1990 Graduating Class from East High School.

With the end of the school year comes the challenge to the Class of 1991. Show your pride and school spirit; for you, this can be the best time of your life.

Juniors

Four dedicated students were chosen as this year's Junior Class officers. All possessed the determination, skill and concern that were needed to substantially fill their roles as leaders in their grade level. They were president Matt Maxwell, vice-president Jay Fagen, secretary Dan Packard and treasurer Cathy Troutman.

Matt participated in track, cross country, Building Advisory Committee, Spanish Club, basketball and Student Government.

Jay was involved in wrestling, cross country, Student Government and Pep "E" Club.

Dan participated in track and Student Government.

Cathy took part in Student Government, Spanish Club and Pep "E" Club.

Take that! Junior Melissa Brennan smirks with pure satisfaction after shoving an ice cream cone into the face of her boyfriend, senior Kelly Bennett, during an argument. The argument was solved; ice cream helped Kelly to "chill out."

Arguments! Making up is much better than breaking up!

By the time a student has reached his/her junior year in high school, he/she will have experienced some type of young love. Unfortunately, along with the joyous, elated feelings come hurt, and, especially, anger. This anger toward a person's boyfriend/girlfriend is usually expressed through a written or verbal argument.

There are many reasons that junior students gave for having to be involved in an argument with a boyfriend/girlfriend. Some common reasons were lying, cheating, flirting, irresponsibility, jealousy and lack of maturity. There is no sure cause of arguing, but one sure answer is that making up is better than breaking up.

Confusion sparks society's path to mysterious future

Confused about something? Who hasn't been at one time or another? Confusion is a part of our everyday life.

Confusion exists everywhere in today's society. Just take a look around. It wouldn't be possible to make a list of all the things that are confusing in today's world, but following are a couple of examples.

How does a light bulb work? The bulb isn't telling electricity to light the bulb. The electricity just does.

How is a large chunk of silicon made into computers, calculators and video games? A piece of silicon can hold an almost unlimited supply of information. This sounds impossible, but in reality, it isn't.

Juniors' car(toon) situations

A typical teenager's view of a first car: If it gets me somewhere, I'll buy it. Julie Cory found that her first car, a Citation, really didn't need a radio. All she had to do was listen to the sweet melody of strange noises it made.

Jennifer Bickel put on a show for some fellow parking mates when she couldn't get out of her parking space because she was pinned in from three sides. Her brown Duster continually died because she put so much effort into her driving skills.

Are you a person who loses track of how many people you said you would take home? By the end of one fall day, Kori Leo had nine people to take home. She squeezed all nine into her small Horizon, and it was an amusing sight to see. Two of the poor souls (of course, a freshman was the first candidate) had to scrunch in the back hatch staring out the window at cars following.

Yep, fears become reality when, much to his disgust, Perry Rosa finds his keys ARE in the ignition and he is outside of the locked car.

Sophomores

This year's Sophomore Class chose four bright young ladies to represent them. They were president Kristen Carlstedt, vice-president Kelli King, secretary Kris Moore and treasurer Jennifer Dehnert.

Being involved in extracurricular activities was not uncommon for any of them. Kristen was involved in Cheerleading, Student Government and Pep "E" Club Board. Kelli was involved in Student Government, Pep "E" Club, and Cheerleading. Kris was involved in Pep "E" Club. Jennifer was involved in Pep "E" Club Board, Student Government and French Club, and she was also the Cheerleading captain.

They all commented that they would like to see everyone is in the Sophomore Class now graduate with the Class of 1992. They also wanted everybody to get as involved as possible.

This year's Sophomore Class officers were elected by their fellow students. Row 1: President Kristen Carlstedt and secretary Kris Moore. Row 2: Treasurer Jennifer Dehnert and vice-president Kelli King. These four showed great leadership.

Sophomore Brian Crook shows us how he spent his freetime in summer and fall. Like many boys, Brian chose to master his skateboarding skills by making a skateboarding ramp in his driveway. He devoted long hours practicing to achieve success.

Evergetic sophs have fun after work is done

This year, many sophomores found that they had several hours of freetime after doing their homework. Although this might not have been true in every situation, it was in most. Some of the things that they found to be interesting included getting involved in extracurricular activities, such as sports, cheerleading, Student Government, Pep "E" Club, French Club, Spanish Club, Building Climate Committee and many others. Students also spent a lot of freetime just socializing with their friends. Other things that one could often see a sophomore doing were going to football and basketball games, going out on dates, going out with friends or just staying home and watching TV.

Don't you hate it when that annoy – ing pet bites you?!!

Have you ever had a pet peeve that made you want to scream or pull your hair out? For example, have you ever had to wait outside in the middle of the winter for your ride to show up and they forget to pick you up? Chances are you are not alone.

Jay Wilson has probably experienced something that everyone has at one time or another. His peeve occurs "when you are walking down the halls and you are late for class and the girls spray hairspray in your face, making you eat hairspray for the rest of the day."

Another one is "When people spit on the stair railing and you put your hand in it," said Tonya English.

So remember, everyone has pet peeves.

Do you have a pet? A pet peeve, that is. This is on everyone's pet-peeve list. Jay Wilson scratches his fingernails down the chalkboard making everyone's teeth clench. Can you hear the screeches?

Could this be the most embarrassing moment for Brad Peterson, sophomore? LEFT: An ornery Brad commits a serious offense as Mr. John Raymond, teacher of English, looks on. RIGHT: An embarrassed Brad with Mr. Raymond, looking completely satisfied, obviously very happy with his results.

How embarrassing! Have you ever been humiliated?

Imagine having to do a very important speech in speech class, and once you are up in front of the class you completely forget everything you were going to say. Or imagine tripping over everyone's feet while you're going up to the front of the class. Okay, so maybe you've never experienced anything like that, but Mary Ann Hoover said, "My most embarrassing moment came when I was running up the stairs and I missed a step. I fell and my books went flying everywhere." Mike Nicholson said, "My most embarrassing moment occurred when I was in gym class and the string on my gym trunks broke. When I dove in, I almost lost my shorts." Now, does your most embarrassing moment seem quite so bad?

East High School mourns Dennis Ray Reed, Jr.

The Fall of 1989 — It was predicted not to be beautiful because of the drought, yet it was a lovely autumn. Shortly after school began, for the people who knew Dennis Ray Reed, Jr., the beauty diminished tragically on Sept. 19.

Dennis and his family were driving to his cousin's house in Adel to ask if the cousin would stay with his great-grandmother while Dennis and his family went camping. A car collided with theirs sending Dennis to the hospital where he died on Sept. 20.

Dennis was a normal teenage boy. He played baseball at Grandview for eight years and intended to try out for East baseball in the spring. He liked to go to the mall and loved to ride his bike.

"Denny was a very good kid. He didn't get into trouble at home. He had lots of friends and enjoyed playing football and baseball with them. He even taught his little brother how to throw, catch and bat. We love him and miss him very much," says Ms. Roberta Ochoa, Dennis' mother.

"He always answered my cry for help, whether it was to mow the lawn, help take care of younger grandchildren or lend a helping hand with his 100-year-old great-grandmother. He was a special boy whom we love and miss deeply," said Mrs. Barbara Rupe, Dennis' grandmother.

Mr. Jim Weaver, Concert Choir director, commented: "Dennis showed respect for authority by being attentive. He enjoyed Concert Choir and participated and contributed much in class and displayed an interest in music. We all miss him."

Sophomore Jay Elliott said, "He was a very calm and quiet person, yet he always had a smile on his face. He was friendly and never had anything hurtful to say about anyone. Dennis should be remembered as truly a good person."

The people who knew Dennis Ray Reed, Jr., really enjoyed his company and will never forget him. We will keep our memories of him in our hearts forever.

Freshmen

The Class of 1993 was expertly led into a successful year with outstanding leaders. With leaders like Tim Vail (president), Nicole Wagner (vice-president), Ashley Calhoun (secretary) and Katie Goodrich, treasurer, it's no wonder the freshmen got off on the right foot in the fall of 1989.

Tim was actively involved in Student Government and football, while Nicole, Ashley and Katie were all on the Pep "E" Club Board; all three were Freshman Cheerleaders.

With four sensational leaders like that, it's no wonder that the class of 1993 was so "wild about tradition."

Tim Vail, president, commented: "Leading the Class of 1993 was a lot easier than I thought it would be."

Freshman Joey Davis begs senior Kathy Hutson for a date on Friday. Kathy, though, gently declines Joey's generous offer. This is an embarrassing scene for many freshmen during every school year.

Freshmen drop at feet of ultimate upperclassmen

Ah, the start of a new school year. That meant, for a lot of new freshmen, new teachers to get used go, new classes to attend, new friends to meet and new upperclassmen to develop crushes over.

This was the scene for many freshmen at the start of the school year, and most of the time, to the delight of the embarrassed freshmen, the upperclassmen never found out about these one-sided love affairs.

Some of the symptoms were glazed-over eyes, moodiness and names scratched on things, but no one was supposed to see those!

So next time you feel a tingling in your heart, watch out for those puppy-love crushes like the ones the freshmen had.

Freshmen quickly spotted carrying new red binders

As the year's first school bell sounded throughout the school, the hoard of new freshmen timidly crept through the halls in search of their classes. All of these freshmen had one thing in common: Each carried a red three-ringed binder. Although these may have proved a hindrance to some by attracting attention, the binders did have a purpose.

Organization was being stressed this year with the upcoming Freshmen Class. These red binders were a big part of this organizational plan. Its purpose was to help freshmen become organized during the first few weeks of classes and to help them make the transition to East.

The biggest fad with freshmen this year was not sunglasses or a new type of tennis shoes; it was red, three-ringed binders. This craze might have been partly because a new school policy required all freshmen to carry them! Angie Irwin, Jerry Shedd and Missy Brown proudly show that they are freshmen by displaying their binders.

Rolling Stones '90

The kids are alright and they are hangin' tough for The Who, Rolling Stones and the New Kids on the Block. These three T-shirts are a few of many seen in the East High hallways this year.

Rockin' & rollin' with the New Kids and Rolling Stones

As students walked the hallways of East High, they were sure to see some familiar sights. One of them came when students saw other students dropping bundles of money as they bought concert T-shirts and sweatshirts.

Two of the many concerts this year were "New Kids on the Block" and the Rolling Stones. Both of these concerts were held at Hilton Coliseum in Ames. The New Kids performed in August at the Iowa State Fair and again in January at the coliseum. The Stones rocked the coliseum in October. The Rolling Stones completely sold-out concert was said to be "the best concert tour of the '80's."

Upperclasses torment frosh: Scarlet tradition

Everyone knows that being a freshman is the worst experience in high school. Many freshmen get the pleasure of being made to do pushups by the upperclassmen. Some, though, are lucky enough to escape the embarrassment — at school, that is. Many freshmen have older brothers or sisters, so in order to get a ride to school in the morning, they were made to pump gas for their "elders."

Freshman Sara Barker said, "My brother makes me pay him $5 a week for gas, just so I can ride with him."

Some freshmen might have been picked on at school, but others got it at home instead.

Senior, Adam Conn, looks on amusingly while he makes his freshman brother, Josh Conn, pump gas for a ride to and from school. A lot of freshmen got tricked into pumping gas for older brothers or sisters for rides to school.

Freshmen spooked while babysitting for $2 per hour

All of us know freshmen are too young to have jobs,yet they still have expenses to pay, just like the rest of us. The most common thing one heard freshmen say was, "Mom, can I have some money?" This worked only for a while, then freshmen started babysitting. They thought it was so great getting paid $2 an hour. Some also thought it was just a game. However, being a babysitter required a lot of responsibility. Freshman Jenny Newsom said, "The worst thing I ever experienced while babysitting occurred when a man knocked at the door and asked to use the phone. I told him no and the next thing I knew, all the lights in the house went out."

Ronnie Young expresses just how much fun babysitting really is. After about the third Sesame Street book Ronnie is either counting the minutes before his job is done, or wondering when they'll get to play with the airplane. When Ronnie needed some extra money over the summer, he helped his mother babysit.

"I thought Homecoming was something I'll always remember. Being chosen Homecoming attendant of the Freshman Class was surprising. It was especially tough running against friends. It was neat the way all the attendants walked up the aisle, but it was disappointing to me that they didn't play 'Shower Me with Your Love.' " — Nicole Wagner

Nicki and Dan Wagner show their happiness and appreciation for their daughter Nicole. Nicole was chosen as the freshman Homecoming attendant. Being an attendant is a very special honor. Very few girls get the opportunity to become an attendant.

"I really enjoyed Homecoming week, especially on Woodstock Day when kids were dressed as if they were just shot out of the '60's. The dance was the highlight of Homecoming for me because I was with my friends having a good time. The only bad thing about it was the bill for dinner." — Matt Johnson

Principal promotes pride in achievement

The year 1989-90 was Principal Jerry Stilwell's second year at East, as it was for two vice-principals, Mr. Gary Jotzke and Mr. Mike Zelenovich. These administrators and Vice-Principal Gary Eyerly guided East through another great year.

A 1957 graduate of Valley High School, Mr. Stilwell attended college at Iowa State Teachers' College. He then went to do graduate work at Drake University. In 1981, he became principal at McCombs Middle School. This was his first position as principal. In 1984, he became principal at Harding Middle School. Then, in 1988, after 28 years in education and 26 years in the district, he came to East.

Goals that have been achieved with Mr. Stilwell as principal are greater student participation in sports and organizations, and higher academic achievement.

By being principal of East two years, Mr. Stilwell gained a greater appreciation of the leadership of students and staff.

His advice to high school students: "You have one shot at high school education, so take advantage of it. Get involved. High school can be one of the best and most exciting times of your life. Student involvement at East is far better than at any other school, from what I've seen."

Helpers portray clean image of East

The part-time helpers did many jobs in taking care of our school this year. The two of them were busy cleaning up after everyone in the cafeteria, picking up cans and bottles, and cleaning up the school campus.

Most students enjoyed having these friendly helpers around and liked talking to them.

Our cafeteria ladies did another great job this year. As always, they were courteous, helpful, and hardworking. They usually managed to keep everyone happy about the food that was served. Every day a different hot lunch was served to students going through the regular line. Beefburgers and grilled-cheese sandwiches were served in the same way as hot lunches were served. If the student didn't like to wait in line, he could get a cold sack lunch that included sandwiches, potato chips, vegetables and milk. He could also go to the salad bar, which, besides regular lettuce salads, sometimes included baked potatoes or taco salads. Also sold at the cold lunch counter and in the regular line were cookies of many kinds, rice krispies treats and yogurt. As the reader can well understand, our cafeteria ladies were quite busy. All of this was done on a budget of $1 per lunch, a 15-cent increase over last year.

Our day and night custodians deserve to be told that they are always appreciated. Think about it. What would our school look like without them? Who would pick up the trash left in the halls and restrooms? The custodians also wax the restroom floors, clean all of the classrooms and make minor repairs. These are many things we wouldn't regularly notice. The day custodians are here in the morning, and there is also a crew that works at night. Both crews make our school a better place to come to every day.

about SPORTS

Take a look at East High's spectacular Athletic Department. The Scarlets had a fantastic year in sports. Football and volleyball fans packed the stands to support their teams.

It was a great year to be an East High student, teacher or faculty member. This year will live in the memories of these athletes and their parents forever.

Girls' varsity volleyball wrapped up their season by advancing to state while the boys' cross country team finished fourth at state.

The varsity football team finished first in the metro conference. This was the first time in history that East went to playoffs in football. East dominated the all-metro team, contributing six players.

The hard work and dedication paid off and the Scarlets will continue to strive for the best.

Managers Trudi Van Buskirk, Christy Waldron and Leeanna Harvey stick it out at a rainy football game. The managers never failed to be the staunchest supporters of East's football team.

Young team shows improvement

"1989 was a very good season for us. We played well with the new people on our team. I know we will continue to improve and have a successful season next year" — Chad McDonald, junior

A first baseman's job isn't always easy; however, senior Richie Young makes it look that way.

This year's varsity baseball team was quite a change from last year's. After having a team made up of all seniors, a change to only three seniors and no returning starters was somewhat of a challenge. Varsity had 37 boys try out, with 25 making the team.

Varsity started off the season with a once-again successful trip to Council Bluffs. After returning home the winning continued. The Scarlets beat Hoover, Valley and Council Bluffs, all of which were rated teams. The Scarlets also won 8 of their last 12 games. They were one of 16 final teams in sub-state, where they suffered a tough 2-1 loss to Dowling.

The varsity team ended the season as district champions and ranked twelfth in the state.

Mr. Ric Powell, varsity coach, said, "This year, their biggest weakness was the lack of pitching. However, because of the large number of younger players, I am expecting a well-experienced team next year."

The sophomore team had 35 boys try out and kept only 17. The team proved to have great potential — four of the team's players advanced to varsity. Those four were Tom Shelton, Chad McDonald, Chad Knight and Chad Erickson. The team is looking forward to a successful season in 1990.

Last year's freshman baseball team was made up of 20 of the best freshmen in the metro. It was a hard decision to choose those 20 from the 50 well-rounded individuals who tried out.

Freshman coach Clark Roberts said, "They have more depth than I would expect to find anywhere. They were some of the best I've worked with."

Young Scarlet softball players shine

Winning has been a tradition of the East High softball team over the years, and this past summer's team was able to keep that victorious tradition alive. The team tied for the metro title with Roosevelt and they placed eleventh at the state tournament in Fort Dodge.

The Scarlets were led by captains senior Lizz Beckman and alumnus Jodi Stout.

The team should be strong again in 1990 and continue the tremendously strong winning Scarlet tradition.

"I was very happy with the way the season went. We played as hard as we could all year long and it all paid off with a really successful trip to the state tournament." Shelly Milligan, junior.

Scarlet luck strikes JV/Frosh teams

The girls' junior varsity and freshman teams both had a great summer. The junior varsity team, coached by Mr. Mark Tiby, won their first 11 games.

Both teams finished up the season as metro champs.

While the JV team was working their way to being metro champs, the freshman team, coached by Mr. Bill Carlson, were also having that same "Scarlet luck." They had a season record of 13 and 1.

Coach Carlson commented, "The freshman team has the potential to be an outstanding varsity team."

Junior varsity player Cindy Grow commented, "We had a great year. There was a lot of talent on the team and we all got along.

Scarlets show signs of improvement

The Scarlet soccer team had a fine season this past summer. They played a long schedule that included wins over North and Hoover. One of the team's great highlights of the season was a hard-fought, come-from-behind tie with Central Iowa Conference champion Urbandale. "Tying Urbandale gave the team a big lift. They were the CIC champs and we went in and played as hard as we could. It was really difficult for our midfielders to keep (Aaron) Leventhal (of Urbandale) in check. He was in great shape and didn't slow down even near the end, but Deric (Kidd) and Paul (Fensterman) did a good job of keeping him from making the big plays," commented Curt Schachtner, junior.

The Scarlets were led by three fine captains: alumni Deric Kidd, Rafael Murgel and Eric Newton. Eric was especially valuable to the team because of his versatility and his unselfish style of play. He was among the team leaders in assists, while playing a variety of positions from fullback to striker.

East lost seven starters to graduation, but team members are hoping for a successful season with help from several juniors who were reserves on last year's squad.

Golf team swings to victories

The boys' golf team played an exceptional match against Valley High School this year. The team had never beaten Valley until the 1989 season. Captains Pete Kellis and Alan Britcher had a lot to do with that.

The boys' golf team had its strengths and its weaknesses. Mr. John Schnoor, coach, said, "The one strength this team had the most of was experience. Many of the players had been playing golf for seven or eight years. On the other hand, a weakness they all had in common was that they were not very consistent. They all had their good and their bad days."

The team included many juniors and sophomores so the team should have a better season next year. Captain Alan Britcher said, "Our season started weak, but with only three seniors we finished pretty strong. We have a lot of talent coming up in the next two years; therefore, they should be a much stronger team."

"We had a lot of fun this year. Everyone improved his score through a lot of practice and hard work. We hope to be more successful next year." — Jason Upchurch, junior

Mr. Schnoor also commented, "Every year we only have a few girls come out to play. I would encourage other girls who like golf and who like to have a good time to play next year."

Boys' cross country fourth in state

Winning fourth place in the state competition brought smiles to the faces of the boys' cross country team, especially to the seven boys who had the honor of running in the meet. Representing East High were seniors Mike Robinson and Rick Snyder, juniors Matt Maxwell, Curtis Weiss and Shawn Hultman, sophomore Josh Hanson and freshman Ricky Ramirez. Before the state competition, East was ranked number seven, but after the meet was ranked number four. The cross country team worked very hard to accomplish this achievement.

Head Coach Don Graves commented, "The cross country team had a couple of really good advantages. First of all, they had good team balance, and secondly, they ran in a pack." When a team runs together, they talk to one another and encourage one another to continue their paces and finish the meet.

Cross country gains experience

Even though the records of the girls' cross country team were somewhat disappointing, the six runners gained a lot of experience. The team started out with eight runners and finished with only six. These six girls never gave up even when they wanted to quit.

The runners lost a lot of meets because of the lack of girls who went out for cross country. Senior Bobbi Wallace was the team's best runner and captain of the team. Head Coach Carole Larson said, "The six runners had great companionship and worked very well together. If it hadn't been for the lack of runners, we could have had a winning season." Just to get an idea of how hard these girls tried, note that there were three of them who kept on running even though they had medical excuses. A lot of people would use that as an excuse to quit, but quitting the team and letting the other girls down was something they couldn't do.

East excels on gridiron, wins metro

The varsity football team had an outstanding year in 1989. They reached the quarter-final round of the state tournament, and their nine wins were the most in school history. Things continued positively for the Scarlets even after the season ended, as they placed 10 players on all-conference and all-state teams.

The team's definite strength on offense was their rushing attack. They were led by senior Jermaine Reed, who had 1,529 yards rushing and 14 touchdowns, and by senior Tyray Gunn, who had 1,079 yards and a team-high 15 touchdowns.

Defensively, the team was led by senior linebacker Richie Brown, who had 152 tackles, and junior defensive end Chad Knight, with 102 tackles.

"The kids achieved a tremendous amount of success, and they are deserving of the recognition they received," commented Head Coach Bill Carlson.

The Scarlets were outstanding not only on the gridiron, but also in the classroom. East placed three scholar-athletes on the all-metro academic team: senior Kelly Bennett with a 3.85 grade-point average, senior Joel Carlson with a 3.8 GPA and senior Kyle Yencer with a 3.96 GPA.

Freshmen learn meaning of team

The freshman football team had a very productive year as far as inner growth as a team was concerned. The team started out the season with a tough schedule; however, once into their season, the freshmen showed they had good talent and the potential to win.

They began to come together and started looking more like a team as they went on. By the end of the season, the boys were performing well and looking forward to the next season. They hope to come out with a very successful season next year, including bringing home the metro title.

Commenting on this year's season, Assistant Coach Pat Wilson said, "By the end of the season, the boys started coming together well and playing complete games."

Oftentimes the jobs of a manager are taken for granted. However, their tasks are very important. The managers for football are responsible for getting water for the players and assisting players injured during the game. In addition, they must attend all games and practices. This year's managers for the freshmen were Angie Irwin, Shannon Bubb and Rhonda Harvey.

Experience plus team participation plus giving it your all equal a winning football team. The East High sophomore football team was lacking in only one of these areas: experience. This year's team had only 19 players returning from their freshman year. Ten of the players were first-season players, bringing the total to a mere 29 players who finished the season.

Many injuries occurring this year affected the team's record. However, much individual progress was made. It is hoped that progress will continue with an off-season workout program.

This year's team had four returning letterwinners, who gave the team the extra help that was needed. The team included six seniors, one junior, two sophomores and five freshman; all of them contributed to the successful team.

"The girls this year were a very enjoyable and hard-working group of young ladies. I am really going to hate to see some of the seniors leave," said Mr. Stan Thompson.

Smashing Scarlets dominate metro

Attitude, enthusiasm and unity brought together an awesome '89 varsity volleyball squad. These qualities described and allowed the team to capture a 94-40 season record. a 35-9-8 metro record and a second consecutive trip to the state tournament.

The team's greatest highlight came when they ousted Ames 3-to-1 to advance to the regionals against Urbandale. The Scarlets again succeeded in great play and prevailed, winning 3-0. The squad's first game at state was against Cedar Rapids Kennedy. They took a hard loss, not only losing the game, but also having to deal with the obnoxious crowd and an overcrowded site of competition.

Six girls were praised for either their playing or their academic ability. Unanimously chosen to the first team all-conference were seniors Betty Bartram and Lizz Beckman; senior Nicole Thorn was selected to the second team. Seniors Kathy Hutson and Nicole Lester and junior Rachele Clark were given honorable mention. Kathy and Nicole were also named to the all-academic team.

"Show Time" was a key word used frequently during the season. The definition of this word is definitely "The East High girls' basketball team." Everyone looked out when the team took the floor, because the girls were ready for 32 hard-working, action-packed minutes.

Consistency, determination and confidence led the Scarlets to upset four ranked teams and enter the state tournament. East edged Mason City, 59-55, in a first-round game, then ousted No. 9 Valley, 45-44, in a sectional final. East topped LeMars, 59-44, and No. 8 Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln, 52-49, to advance.

Experience and athletic abilities were the team's greatest strengths. Many girls were also members of the volleyball team that qualified for the state tournament the last two years, and many were on the softball team that went to the state softball tournament last season.

The Scarlets rewrote the East High basketball record book. They broke 9 season records, 9 single-game records and 13 individual records. Senior Betty Bartram broke the record of the all-time-career-point leader, and junior Rachele Clark broke the record of the all-time-one-season-point leader.

At the end of the season, five girls were given honors. Senior Betty Bartram and junior Rachele Clark were named to the first team all-metro. Senior Lizz Beckman was awarded second team all-metro, and senior Kathy Hutson was awarded honorable mention. Seniors Lizz Beckman and Nicole Lester were chosen for the all-metro academic team.

"Working together as a team over the years has improved our skills and our scores. making it to the state competition was an added plus." — Renee Klukas, senior

Varsity boys prove dedication

This year's team suffered many losses, but at the same time exhibited much dedication to the team. When not in a winning position, it is hard for the team to keep faith in themselves. This year's boys, however, did. They made the most of the season.

The Scarlets also suffered a great deal from inexperience. A mere three seniors were on this year's team. Three sophomores were brought up to assist the team because of the numbers. These three were Shawn Carmichael, Josh Hanson and Rick Jones.

Head Coach Chuck Sutherland said about this year's team: "I felt they played hard. It would have been easy to give up, but they didn't."

Senior Jason Kunert attempts to pass the ball while being guarded by his Lincoln opponents.

"We struggled with many ups and downs, and much of our frustration was due to a lack of experience. I think we will all mature and have success next year." — Jason Kunert, senior.

Soph girls' basketball bounces back

Although the girls' sophomore basketball team had a losing season, they demonstrated tremendous improvement. The season record was 3-15. They played many teams twice, and the second time they played against a certain team, they lost by fewer points. Kathy Winget, sophomore, said, "Even though we didn't win very many games, we improved as the year progressed."

There were several outstanding players on the team. Most notable were sophomore Mary Ann Hoover and freshman Gail Foster. The team was complemented by a number of freshmen. The freshmen were Wendy Burr, Marcy Dobson, Gail Foster, Erin Sage, Nicole Simon and Katie Wathne.

This year we didn't have a very good season, but we tried and that is what counts. Even when you don't win every game, it's still fun to work as a team." — Kim Hewitt, Sophomore.

Dedication and energy were the bywords for the boys' sophomore basketball team. Although they had a disappointing season, their determination and enthusiasm set a shining example. They may have had a losing season, but they didn't quit. They will always use the responsibility they learned and will always remember their teammates' support for one another.

The team was led by such outstanding players as Matt Dierking and Mike Wadden. Although these members were considered team leaders, each member of the team deserves praise because not a single member quit the team.

Freshman girls display dedication

The freshman girls' basketball team played a good season," according to head coach Bob Savage. The team played well throughout the season and was very competitive. They played very close games and had no major blowouts. "We played a competitive season and had two very close games against Valley and Lincoln. The girls played hard and worked all season to be the best they could be," said Coach Savage.

"I enjoyed playing basketball this year and had fun working with the rest of the team. We had a pretty good season overall and we really improved." — Errin Sage.

Although the freshman boys' basketball team did not have a very good season, they played to the best of their ability. They showed a constant improvement from game to game. As the season went by, the team worked harder on teamwork and played much closer games toward the end of the season.

Head Coach Ned Rasmussen commented, "The team showed dedication and drive to improve. They played well as a team toward the end of the season and they showed a great spirit and closeness."

"We had a slow start, but things started to pick up as the season went by. We would have had a better season if we had worked more on teamwork from the start." — Tad Hays.

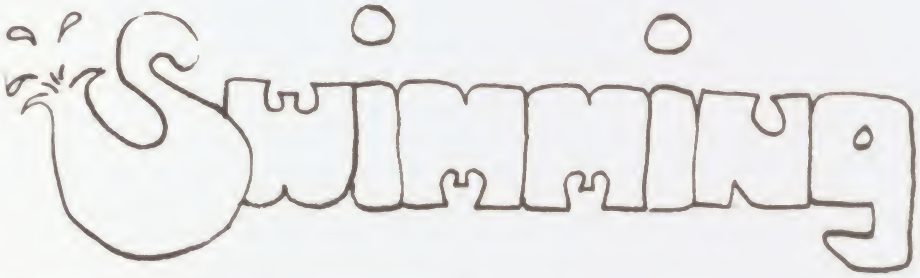
Making waves in the pool at meets



Having a leisurely swim? Not the swimming team, because they worked hard during the 1989-90 season. According to Coach Ken Gaeth, this was not a good year because the team was short on people and lost many points because of it. Coach Gaeth hopes that more boys will be attracted to swimming next year.

Coach Gaeth also said that the swimming team practiced every day after school. That's a lot of hours to swim, for sure. Working hard in practice paid off for many swimmers, especially sophomore Mike Moyle. At the district meet Feb. 17, Mike was the team's top swimmer; he placed fourth in the 500 freestyle race. At districts, East placed seventh out of nine teams.

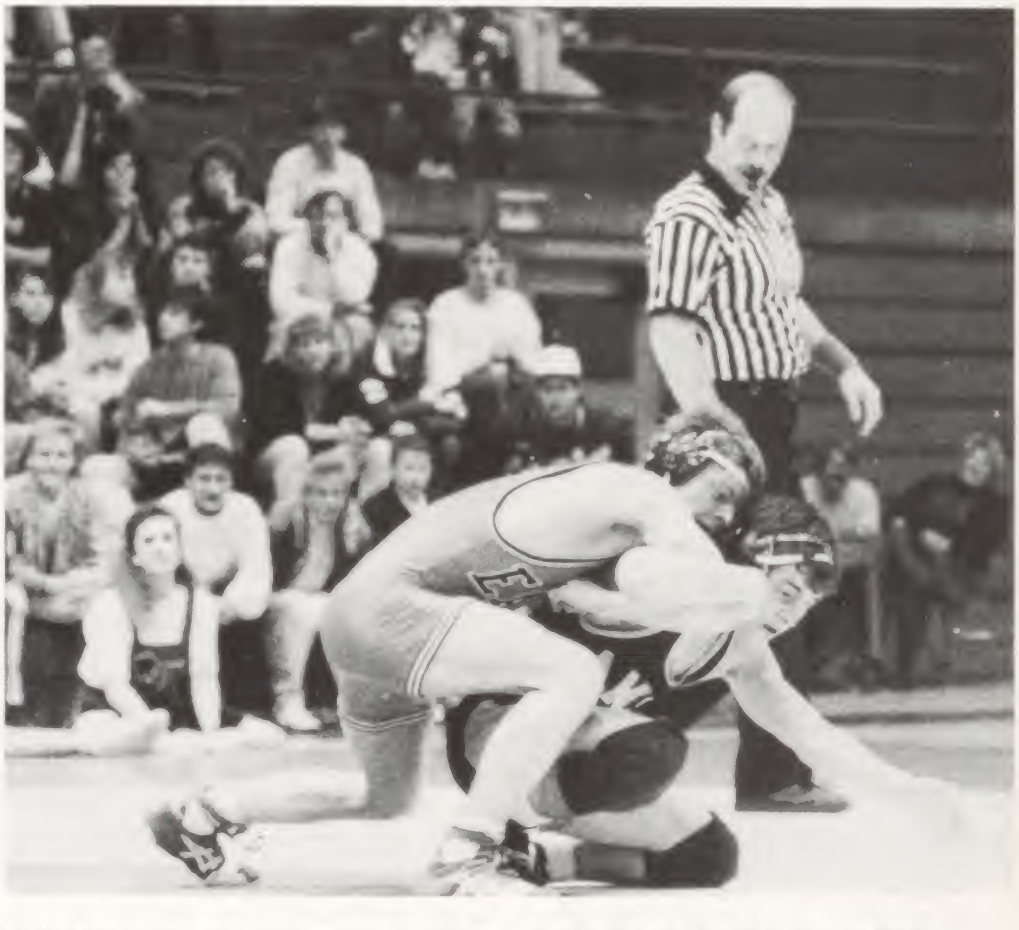
Tops in wrestling: four to state

The Scarlet wrestling team had an extremely successful season this year. They won five crucial conference meets and a total of seven meets for the year. The Varsity team finished second at the district meet at Newton, and four wrestlers advanced to the state tournament. Sophomore Bobby Anderson and seniors Chris Hatchitt, Rick Snyder and Jermaine Reed all did well at the tournament. These four wrestlers advanced to the second round of the tournament and Jermaine took fifth place in the 189-pound weight class.

Beginning with the second dual meet of the year, the Scarlets went on a four-meet winning streak, which was definitely a high point in the season.

The Scarlets were looking forward to a great season in 1990-91. Sophomores Jeremy Mendenhall, Lenny North and Larry Rivas and Junior Ryan Hatchitt all posted impressive records at the junior varsity level and hoped to do well in varsity competition in 1990-91.

Greg Britcher, senior, gets an upper hand on his opponent from Ames.Greg finished the season with a 16-13 record while wrestling in two different weight classes.



Senior Rick Snyder works on an opponent in his 130-pound match. Rick was a co-captain of the varsity squad and was an enthusiastic team leader.

Team balance, strong sprinters and great field eventers gave the Scarlets an excellent boost for the season. Tony Booker, Kip Coleman, Walt Humphrey and Joe James were the Flying Four that crushed the Drake Records. They broke two 41-year-old records in the 4x1 and 4x2 at the Drake Relays. Their ability, strength and determination brought together an awesome team that shattered many records during the season.

Many highlights made the 1989 boys' track team sparkle. At the Scarlet Spring Classic, the team won 10 out of 17 events. They never finished worse than second as a team in any meet except one. That meet was the metro conference, where the Scarlets, according to Head Coach Don Graves, were ripped out of 10 points, which would have given them second place. Even with that downfall, they plunged ahead and scored 14 out of 17 events.

The team managers were Howard Barber and Jennifer Lamb. The captains of this sparkling team were alumni Tony Booker, Kip Coleman and Walt Humphrey.

Coach Graves commented, "I was very proud of the 1989 boys' track team. They broke a lot of records, won a lot of meets and represented East High School as gentlemen. They were good sports through the season and coaches complimented the stars on the track team for being kids without big heads."

The Metro Athletic Conference selects an all-academic conference team, and track is entitled to three representatives. Rod Chamberlain, Chris Gering and Vong Philavahn were the East students.

Building and improving. This is what the '89 girls' track team did. They were a team that improved on skills, technique and form. It was a season on how to improve and to be better runners.

The Scarlets were coached by head Coach Mark Tiby, who was assisted by Mr. Gayle Burgett, Mr. Dave Frost and Ms. Carole Larson. The co-captains of the track team were alumnae Sherry Grother, Jamie Lindberg and Chantell Pate.

Team participation is key to success

Hey, all you East High girls! Come join the girls' tennis team if you have even a slight interest in tennis. It's fun and rewarding so join!

"A winner never quits and a quitter never wins" was the motto of this year's team. Despite the scores, a lot of improvement was seen and plenty was learned. The team was led by alumnae Rita Ricobelli and Tracye Ainsworth. Letterwinners included seniors Amber Proksa and Nancy Lee, and juniors Karin Campbell, Laura Spaulding and Dawn Sweet. Sophomores included Traci Crabb, Jenna Duden and Holly Wilson.

"I enjoyed the season very much and enjoyed working with the girls. I encourage girls to come join the team in their freshman year so they can improve and get better through their high school years" was coach Joyce Smith's comment. The key to playing tennis wasn't necessarily winning, but having fun.

"We worked well together as a team, and each year brings a little improvement over the past. Hopefully this year we can make an improvement over our previous record." — Laura Spaulding, junior

Boys' team slams aces to victory

Although the boys' tennis team had a rough season this year, the team gained valuable experience. The team had only four returning letterwinners: Phone Lovan, Bill Snitker, Rick Dougherty and Matt Dunfee. Mrs. Pat Knott, the boys' tennis coach, commented on the team by saying, "We had a young team this year. Hopefully, the experience we gained will provide for a better season next year. I am looking forward to it."

Struggling against this weakness, the team still had two exciting wins. The Ankeny Invitational was one of the major highlights of the season; the team turned out with a substantial first place in the NO. 1 singles, second place in the NO. 3 singles and two third places in the NO. 2 singles and NO. 2 doubles. The team also stunned North with an 11-0 victory, and had a heartbreaking near-win against Roosevelt with a score of 5-6.

about CLUBS

The possibilities for joining clubs at East are endless. East offers a wide variety of activities, ranging from Play Production to French Club.

Every time you turned around, the Steppers, Color Guard and Cheerleaders were practicing in the gyms before school. There were deadlines to meet for Scroll and Quill, and the photographers were always taking pictures. No matter what time of the day it was, a meeting or rehearsal was being held.

The clubs at East offered an important opportunity for student involvement. So what if you were not an all-star athlete? You could belong to one of the many other activities during your years at East.

As the Star-Spangled Banner rang through the gym, the AFJROTC presented the American flag. They could be found at all of the assemblies that were held at East this year.

Scarlet Steppers steppin' up

Smile, point toes, snap heads, sharp arm movements, practice, practice, practice! Steppers found that practice sure paid off when it led to their placements at the Iowa State Drill Team Contest, Saturday, Dec. 2. Steppers received Class I ratings in both their routines. In their novelty dance, choreographed by their sponsor, Mrs. Kathie Danielson, Steppers brought home a second-in-state trophy! With flip-top hairdos, the Steppers performed a spectacular color-coordinated routine. In their pom routine they were rewarded a third-place trophy! With big, bright smiles, they projected a lot of positive effort to make it a winner. What a way to start the season!

Two weeks preceding the competition, Liz Tesdall competed in the Miss Iowa Dance Competition in Pleasantville, Ia. Liz competed with the song "Last Dance." Out of 40 competitors, she placed 28th. Way to go, Liz!

"Hey, you! Listen up." Does this take you back to memories of the Homecoming assembly? The Steppers performed an exciting dance to a funky mix of songs. A splash of anticipation went into this dance, because it was the fun Homecoming week! Many long, hard practices went into it, similar to the summer practices.

"Summer vacation." What comes to your mind from those words? For the Steppers it wasn't all breaktime; they were very busy with many activities. Earlier in the vacation, the girls marched in the Pleasant Hill Summerfest parade. Though it was extremely hot and hilly, they all hung in there. They continued to advertise themselves and their East pride when they also marched in the Iowa State Fair parade Aug. 15. Later in the summer, the Steppers attended a new camp, the NCA Superstar. It took place in Ames, where they stayed in the Iowa State University dorms. During the week of June 26-29, the Steppers worked hard and brought back many routines.

State Champs dazzle for third year

On Dec. 2, 1989, 17 determined girls marched onto the floor at Southeast Polk High School with one thought in mind: that they were "Putting It Together" for state. In an array of metallic blue, hot pink, green and purple, and clinching new flags, the girls did just that. The only thing that sparkled more than their costumes was the performance itself.

It was with this performance that the 1989-90 Color Guard earned a place in East High history for winning the Iowa State Drill Team Contest for the third consecutive year in flag and rifle.

History was also in the making that day when they performed a light show, previously done in the Homecoming Assembly, at state. The 22 girls came home with a third-place trophy.

All of this was not done overnight. First, the officers were chosen: seniors Dawn Emmons, Jill Fallis, Connie Grother, Dena Pelham and junior Susan Foster. Beginning in June, they had 6:30 a.m. practices. In July, the girls went to Central Iowa Color Guard Camp in Pella, Ia. August came, and so did practices with the band. The football season was soon upon them; they performed at all home games and went to numerous band contests, where they came home with various awards and memorable experiences.

After the football season, what is known as "Winterguard" took place. All members had to tryout for a placement in the state winterguard show. Under the guidance of Mr. Kent Keating, band director and choreographer, the girls worked hard on their state and light shows.

It was also at this time that two girls were chosen to represent East in the Miss Iowa Individuals Contest held at Pleasantville, Ia., Nov. 18. Senior Connie Grother placed first and was named Miss Iowa Auxiliary for 1990, and sophomore Sheila Barnes finished third.

It was a year where the feelings of family and unity were very evident. Those feelings came together at camp and were carried on throughout the entire year. Along with winning state came the prestigious honor of performing their show and presenting the colors at Veterans' Auditorium during the girls' and boys' state tournaments. Future competitions will build the guard's expectations for the best guard ever!!!

Individualists Connie Grother, senior, and Sheila Barnes, sophomore, represent East at the Miss Iowa Auxiliary contest held Nov. 18.

This was just one of the many eye-catching poses used to mesmerize the audience and get them involved in the performance at Southeast Polk High School in December.

Concentration, poise, and the look of confidence are very evident as the squad moves into their next design. Freshman Kim Mullin, seniors Dawn Emmons, Jennifer Stickel, Connie Grother, sophomore Debbie Wolfe, junior Susan Foster and sophomore Diane Shellabarger begin the award-winning performance. The music used this year was "Putting It Together," by Barbra Streisand. The lyrics put to motion were truly a work of magic. As the pace begins to quicken, the beauty of the piece captivates the crowd, making it a joy to watch. This show had more music and drill added to it, and it was taken on the road to Indianapolis, Ind. The Color Guard strived to place high in this contest, which is known as the WGI (Winter Guard International), held in February.

Still spirited and jumping for joy

The 1989-90 Varsity Cheerleaders began their season with a trip to the National Cheerleaders' Association Camp at Iowa State University July 25-July 28. Knowing what tough competition beset them the previous year, the varsity squad began their practices just a few weeks after school let out for the summer. The squad found that all of their rigorous and time-consuming practices paid off. On July 28, the East High Varsity Cheerleaders came home with numerous superior ribbons, a spirit stick and a nomination for the Award of Excellence. The nomination was a very special and honorable award; only a few elite squads were nominated.

The ruling last year to restrict Cheerleaders to just cheering at assemblies and not dancing caused something of a dilemma. Unable to dance and perform mounts has left the varsity squad limited as to what they can do. They must perform cheers that are easy to learn and familiar to the crowds; however, there are only so many crowd-response cheers. Throughout these little setbacks throughout the years, the Cheerleaders were able to keep their spirits up and tried to make their performances as interesting as possible.

The varsity squad is made up of three units — Scarlet, Red and Black. After football is over, these units cheer for the sports assigned to their units. The Scarlet squad cheered for boys' basketball and cross country. The Red squad cheered for volleyball, girls' basketball and boys' swimming, while the Black squad cheered for girls' swimming and wrestling.

The captain of the varsity cheerleading squad was Jennifer Sparrgrove of the Black squad, and the co-captains were Lynn Raymond of the Scarlet squad and Pam McClurg of the Red squad. Mr. Ned Rasmussen, exploring technology teacher, was the new sponsor.

Mr. Bill Carlson, head football coach and algebra teacher said, about the varsity cheerleading squad: "I think the Cheerleaders do a great deal for our entire school. They are strong within their own group, and they are terrific at supporting our different teams."

Concentration, poise and balance are definitely what it takes to make a great mount. Obviously, from the picture above, it can be seen that the Varsity Cheerleaders have it. This was the first mount of the 1989-90 season that the Cheerleaders were allowed to construct and perform. This is not as easy as it looks. Many long dedicated hours were needed to make it so successful.

Sophs entrance spectators with sparkling chants

If you had ever gone to a sophomore football game or a sophomore boys' or girls' basketball game, chances are you saw the sensational Sophomore Cheerleaders perform with boundless energy.

Led by Jennifer Dehnert, captain, Kari Elliott, football co-captain, and Missy Crouse, basketball co-captain, the team was very successful at the State Drill Camp this summer. They won first place over all, and many ribbons for daily competitions.

A lot of time and energy went into the cheers. The Cheerleaders could be found practicing every Tuesday from 3 to 4:30 p.m. and at any other time, as needed.

It's a lot of hard work," commented Missy Crouse, "but I felt we all stuck together and encouraged the teams to have a good time."

Captain Jennifer Dehnert said, "I really encourage other girls to try out. It's a great experience for anyone."

Sophomore Cheerleaders Keri Elliott, Missy Crouse, Jennifer Dehnert, Tammie Chamberlain and Melinda Lewis practiced long and hard to make their cheers at the football games fun for everyone.

1989-90 Freshman Cheerleaders flip for great, fantastic, fun-filled year

Long excruciating hours and lots of dedication put the Freshman Cheerleaders on the right track for the 1989-1990 school year.

The Cheerleaders could be found, rain or shine, cheering for the freshman football team in the fall and for the basketball team in the winter. They also cheered at the pep assemblies.

They practiced for one to one-and-a-half hours a few days before games and on the weekends to get their cheers perfect to belt out at the roaring crowds.

They were led by two outstanding and qualified individuals. Jenny Enfield was captain and Ashley Calhoun was co-captain. These two showed excellent leadership ability.

When asked if it was what she expected, Jenny commented, "I thought it would be a lot harder than it actually was."

Copy's turned in, layouts finished deadlines met

Once again the Quill Staff has produced the best yearbook in Des Moines. Through hard work and dedication, the deadlines were met successfully. There were four deadlines, and each staff member was required to complete at least one spread (two pages) for each deadline.

Twenty-four students made up the staff, which included 14 seniors and 10 juniors. The editors were elected by the 1988-1989 staff. The editors were seniors Jenny Sparrgrove, editor-in-chief, and Nancy Lee and Teresa Miller, assistant editors. They attended excellent summer workshops at the University of Iowa and the American Institute of Business (sponsored by the yearbook company).

Some refreshing changes were made in the theme and the layout of the book. The staff worked for a new twist by combining the traditional values of East with something a little wilder.

Senior Michelle Crawford commented, "We expanded our horizons to bypass the rule, 'if it's not broke, don't fit it,' and the book had excellent qualities of the past and the originality and vitality that come with the present and the future."

Sometimes it was not fully understood how much time and talent it took to produce the Quill. Many times Mr. George Christian, advisor, preached the importance of meeting deadlines. There are no practice deadlines. If one is not met, the book will not be distributed on time. The staff must be given credit where credit is due, because they learn everything they need to know in the first six weeks of school. After that, the rest of the year is a breeze, you say? No, the yearbook staff never sleeps. They now go into actual production to meet four monster deadlines, and when all is said and done you receive the finished product.

Scroll Staff produces great paper

This year's Scroll Staff, under the direction of Richie Young, first-semester editor, and Shawn Hamilton, second-semester editor, worked hard to produce the best possible high school newspaper.

Producing a paper is not as easy as it might seem. You cannot write a bunch of stories and slap them together on a page. A layout must be drawn up and stories and headlines written to fit the space provided. It sometimes takes as long or longer to write the headline as it does to write the story.

Second-semester editor Shawn Hamilton commented, "There were many talents brought together on the staff this year, and everybody put forth the effort to make the scroll the best it could be and to carry on the tradition of a great paper."

Dedication helps to get students involved at East

Getting the student body involved in what goes on at East was a goal of the 1989-90 Student Government. Without the hard work and dedication of the officers, many activities would have not taken place.

During the first semester the officers were Chris Hatchitt, president; Doug Ripley, vice-president; Kelly Bennett, treasurer; and Richie Young, secretary. Only one officer remained in his position during the second semester and that was Vice-president Doug Ripley. The new officers were President Matt Coe, Treasurer Cris Parker and Secretary Lisa Ludwig.

When asked about being an officer, they basically all said the same thing: They had a lot of fun working with one another, doing so made them more responsible, developed their leadership skills and became a highlight of their senior year.

Senior Chris Hatchitt does his part in the Student Government-sponsored food drive, to help the needy.

Talent, honor: debaters win awards

With another year behind them, 1989-90 forensics team progressed to make themselves what they were in 1989-90, a multi-talented group. This year, the forensics team was a young group, but still received three first-place trophies; this was the first time since 1982 that any East debate team has accomplished such a feat. Working really hard, they gave their best performance at the first tournament, in which they advanced to final rounds. With the experience of that win, the debaters continued doing well throughout the year.

All of this was not done in a short period of time. At the beginning of the season, the debaters had practice every night after school, beginning after Thanksgiving. Practices after school until 9 or 10 p.m. were very common near important tournaments. Near the end of the season, practices dwindled off to be two to three days per week. Dedication, research and the ability to be aggressive speakers won many tournaments for them this year.

This year's research topic was "Prison Reform" and how it touches the American people today. Many team members went to debate camps at the University of Iowa and the University of Michigan. Going to camps helped them succeed and be more self-confident about what they said in front of others.

The debaters had a great season, and there were many of them who won individual awards. Many competitors were surprised that the team was so young and that the team received recognition. Students who won individual awards and were outstanding throughout the year were freshmen Pathana Baccam, Jim Gilmore, Forrest Wing, Nathan Ellis and Fred Horstman. Though they were a young team, they managed to beat nearly every team in the state at least once.

Next year, the topic of research is "Space." Being successful this year will make next year's team better yet. With "Space" as the new topic for next year, the debate team looks forward to an interesting season in 1990-91. Knowing more about space as individuals will enhance what is said by others and change many beliefs about space when debates are given on the subject.

The Mock Trial team was a very talented group this year; with several long and hard rehearsals and practicing three times a week, the team had the potential to succeed. Coaching Mock Trial this year were two college students who won nationals in Mock Trial. They were Laura Tucker and Todd Harriott.

By participating in Mock Trial, members learned about the legal process and about court hearings. Mock Trial simulates an actual courtroom atmosphere, with real judges and real trials. The topic this season was "Freedom of the Press and Child Kidnapping." Though these topics seem different, they are actually closely linked. Working with the fundamentals of our rights in the constitution and abducted children in our country, the team got into great depth with their subjects.

A second-year Mock Trialer senior Jennifer Dierking, commented, "This year got off to a rocky start, but with the help of Laura and Todd, we had a great year."

The debaters won many trophies this year. They received first-place trophies at high schools like Bettendorf, Iowa City and Lincoln. They received second-place awards at Iowa City West and Roosevelt. The team worked together to achieve semi-finalist awards at the Lincoln Tournaments and at Roosevelt High School, as well as quarter-final awards at Iowa City West High School, Roosevelt High School and Cedar Rapids Washington High School. Not only were teams recognized, but individuals were as well; speaker awards were given at UNI (University of Northern Iowa). East's Student Congress group was also recognized at Lincoln. Choir dazzles audience with pizzazz

Soprano! Alto! Tenor! Bass! These are the four main groups that harmonize to produce the wonderful sound of music. Under the new Show Choir director, Mr. Jim Weaver, who came from Harlan, Ia., students worked for perfection.

With hard work and dedication, the Show Choir attended the state contest at Creston, Ia., the Jefferson, Ia. Invitational, the McDonald's Classic at Urbandale and the Creston Jazz Festival. They managed to delight everyone who was fortunate enough to see them.

Mr. Weaver commented, "East High students are very busy and they do a lot of work. They are enthusiastic and always want to do well."

The students who were a part of the Show Choir were selected very carefully, through tedious auditions and many practices . Only the best were chosen.

Prep Choir gets new director

The Scarlet Prep Concert Choir continued its search for the perfect sound this year as the group practiced and improved. One major change occurred: the former director, Mr. Kent Keating, chose to become the director of instrumental music, and Mr. Jim Weaver took over Mr. Keating's former position.

This class was open to all students from grades 9 through 12, but it was made up mostly of underclassmen. The only requirement for becoming a member was to audition and be accepted. Auditions included sight-reading and pitch-memory skills, as well as singing scales correctly. Only people who performed well in these three areas were accepted.

The Prep Choir performed at various contests throughout the year. Included in these contests were solos, small-group competitions and large-group competitions. Most contests were held with all Class 4A schools competing.

This class was held daily for all members during third hour. Although it was a lot of hard work, most students greatly enjoyed it and became better vocalists. In doing this, the students greatly increased their odds of moving on to the Concert Choir and Show Choir in the future.

Mr. Weaver commented on the class by saying, "This class is excellent for those students who wish to improve their singing skills and work toward becoming members of the upper choirs. I encourage anyone who is interested in music to try out next year."

Members of the Prep Concert Choir happily sing together during one of their daily practices. This class helped many students improve their vocal skills.

Mr. Weaver accompanies the choir on one of their songs by playing the piano. Mr. Weaver was the new vocal music director this year, and he was well liked by all.

Impressive choir dazzles 'em

Members of the Concert Choir take time to study their music diligently. Long hours of practice were necessary to prepare for the large-and small-group competitions that the choir participated in this year. Auditions were also used to maintain a quality sound and keep up competitiveness with other schools. Out of the numerous people who auditioned, 69 of the most qualified people were chosen. The choir is expected to participate in even more competitions next year.

Mr. Kent Keating stepped down from his position as vocal music director this year in order to become the instrumental music director. Mr. Jay Nugent, the former instrumental director, left East High to become the administrator representative at Wartburg College. Mr. Keating's former position was filled by Mr. Jim Weaver, who taught at East for the first time this year. He formerly taught at Harlan High School near Council Bluffs, Ia.

The Concert Choir, under Mr. Weaver's direction, participated in several competitions and events. In March the choir competed in a state small-group competition, and in May they attended a large-group competition. The choir also showed its Christmas spirit by caroling in Merle Hay Mall at the beginning of December.

The Concert Choir sang a variety of music this year, including folk, classical and popular music. The 69 singers were divided into four groups; soprano, alto, tenor and bass.

Auditions were also used again this year for the choir. Pitch memory, sight reading and vocal quality were the skills heavily considered during these auditions.

Commenting on the year, senior Aaron Johnson said, "I think Mr. Weaver has done well and has been great to work with."

Regiment marches on to victory

The East High Marching Scarlets started off on the right foot this year by receiving their eleventh consecutive Division I rating at the state contest in October.

Although they had a late start on rehearsals, they competed in September at the Marion contest and placed fourth. They went the whole summer without a band director. Eventually, Mr. Kent Keating took the helm of the band. Through thick and thin, cold and heat, the Marching Scarlets improved with each rehearsal.

Under the leadership of the Color Guard captains, the section leaders and the drum majors, the band matured tremendously from last year. Senior drum major Carl Bump commented, "The band has improved over the past few years. I hope that when I'm gone, they do as well as we are doing now."

Working together as a team, the council led the Marching Scarlets on to many victories and triumphs.

Jazz, orchestral music stupendous

The Instrumental Music Department had a wonderful year. The jazz program was under the direction of Mr. Kent Keating, who was the vocal music director and assistant band director last year. He was assisted in his efforts by a local musician, an '82 East High graduate, Mr. Don Jaques. They worked hard with Jazz Band I preparing for contests, concerts and area performances. Jazz Bands I and II both worked hard all year toward the season finale, the fourth annual East High Las Vegas Show. Several members of the jazz program were active in combos, which included a rhythm section and three to six horns. These combos also performed at combo festivals and other activities throughout the year. Several members also took part in the Community Jazz Center. The activities provided by the C.J.C. included concerts, jam sessions, combo festivals and jazz clinics.

The orchestra also had a new director, Mr. James Brauninger. Mr. Brauninger is the assistant concert master of the Des Moines Symphony and has played in that organization for 25 years. He worked with the orchestra on intonation and on improved sound. The orchestra took part in the Central College Music Festival Jan. 25, as well as in many concerts throughout the year. Mr. Brauninger, who helped with orchestra once a week last year, said he enjoyed being here every day. "It is nice to work with outstanding musicians as well as pleasant people," said Mr. Brauninger. "It is also wonderful working with Mr. Keating and Mr. Weaver."

Several students from the concert band participated in two different honor bands. Seniors Scott Rediger, Aaron Johnson, Ben Hare, Shananne Dullard and Rick Broadston, as well as freshman Bryan Swain, were selected to participate in the Drake University Honor Band held Dec. 1 and 2. They spent two days of intensive rehearsals preparing for the concert. Three of these students were also selected to take part in the Meistersinger Honor Band of Wartburg College in Waverly, Ia., Jan. 20 and 21. These students were Scott Rediger, Shananne Dullard and Aaron Johnson.

Computer graphics produce screens

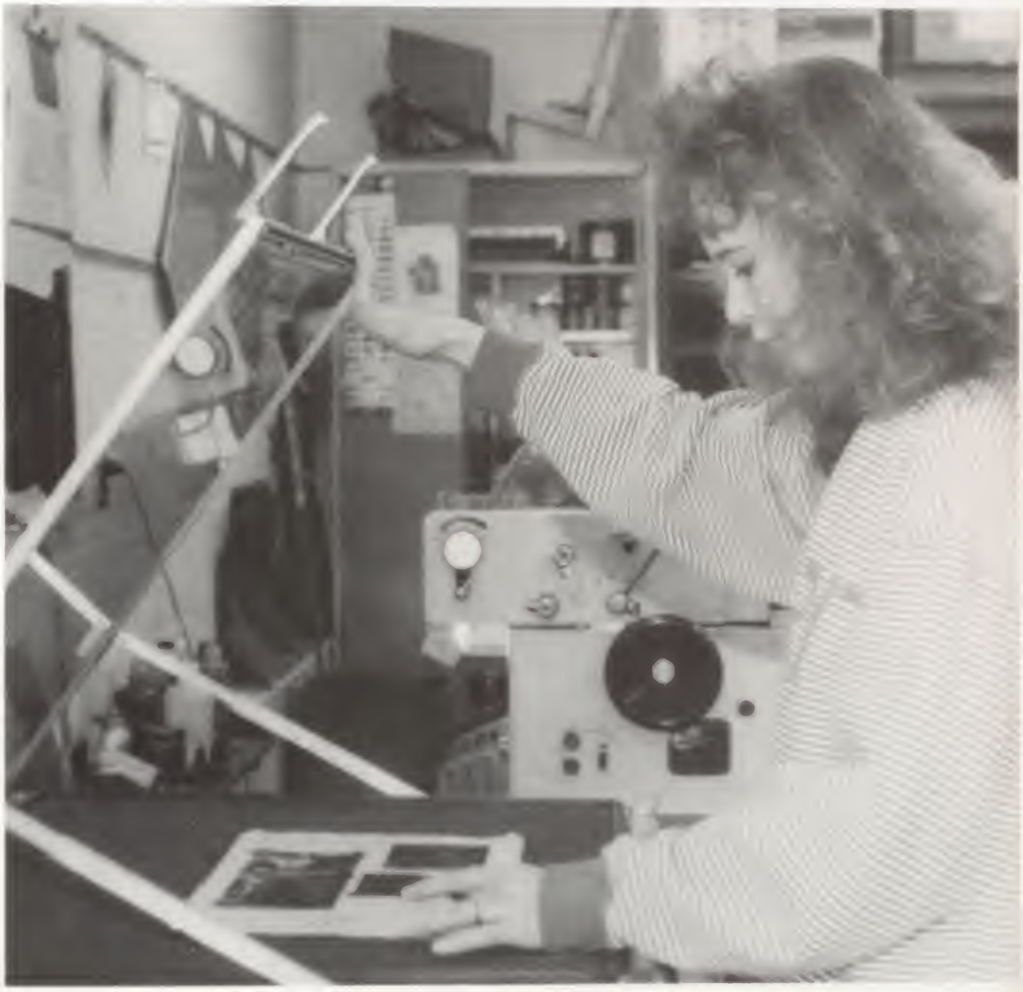
Print, print, print. What should this bring to mind? East High's printing class, of course, taught by Mr. Jeff Bock.

East High's printing class is responsible for the printing done at East. Though many people may know that the printing classes print the East High Scroll, many don't realize what else they print. They are responsible for printing tickets for such events as Homecoming, Spree and Prom, and for many other activities and projects.

They print Play Production posters and programs for major assemblies (including Commencement), as well as attendance cards.

"Even though this is not a vocational class, students learn skills that make them employable," commented Mr. Bock.

A student sets a flat for the Scroll. This includes attaching copy and pictures.



Junior Diane Nichols prepares to demonstrate what must be done to produce a fine Scroll newspaper layout. Shown are some of the machines of the printing trade. Graphics classes are fairly laid back compared to an average class, but students are expected to be responsible for their work.

Pictures build strong publications

Senior Heather McNally mixes chemicals for developing film into pictures.

Developing pictures can be a tricky business, even for senior Jim Cameron.

"Photography means a lot to this school, especially to the publications. Many East alumni have used photography in or as their careers. Three students have their own photography business, while many others work for well known companies," said Mr. John Lethcoe, photography instructor.

Mr. Lethcoe began teaching at East in 1967, but there were no photo journalism classes until 1974, when the north wing was finished. He believes the classes to be very challenging and many times, at deadlines, quite tense. He also says it is most enjoyable working with students who are really interested in photography.

The way it all works begins with the picture desires of the Quill and Scroll staffs. They send picture requests to Mr. Lethcoe, who then assigns the picture-taking to his staff. After processing, the pictures are returned to the people who requested them. Those individuals crop them and return them to the photography class for enlargement.

Senior Jim Cameron, one of the staff's best photographers, said "I think photography is one of the most enjoyable classes at East. Mr. Lethcoe really knows what he's doing."

NHS rewards students' excellence

Throughout East High there are many honors that students can achieve. One of these honors is to be inducted into the Scarlet Chapter of the National Honor Society, which is sponsored by Mr. John Raymond, teacher of English. In order to be selected as a member of the National Honor Society, students must be in the Top 15 percent of their class and provide leadership at East, as well as service to the East Side community.

The NHS members once again went festive with the annual turkey-cookie sale around Thanksgiving and the candy-cane sale during the winter holidays. They held an honors breakfast rewarding the students who earned straight A's and they sponsored the pie-in-the-face contest. This year's recipients of the pie-in-the-face were Mrs. Kay McCollum, Mr. Pat Puetz, Mr. John Raymond and Ms. Jill Shaeffer.

East High's cream of the crop and best and brightest conduct a meeting to discuss the upcoming events which involve their group. "Who are these people?" many ask. Why, they are the members of the National Honor Society, of course.

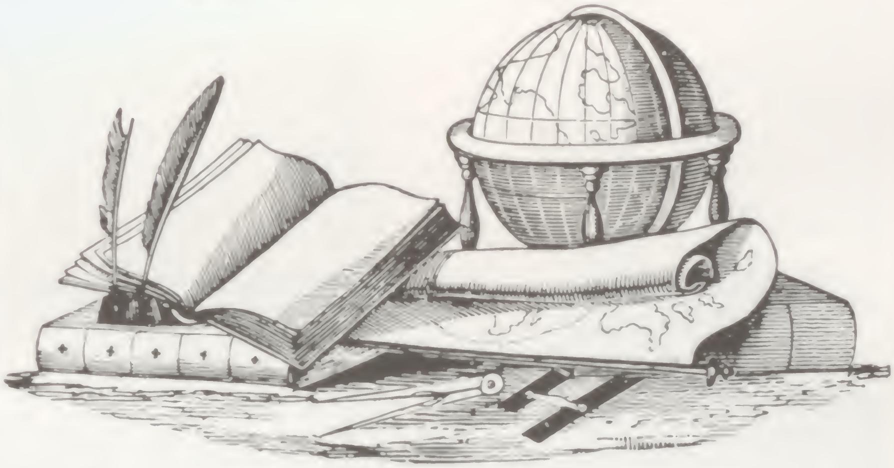
Seniors are honored as Kiwanians

It was an honor for 11 seniors to serve as Kiwanians or Co-Kiwanians for a period of one month. Kiwanians were chosen by Principal Jerry Stilwell and Vice-Principal Gary Eyerly.

It was a very difficult task to choose who was to be selected as Kiwanian. There were many who qualified; the 11 seniors were chosen on the basis of their grades, their involvement in extra-curricular activities and their teachers' recommendations.

Principal Stilwell said, "East has been involved in Kiwanians for a long time, and East students have done an excellent job of representing the school."



Scarlet Country improves its image

Have you ever been lost in the halls of Scarlet Country? Well, the East High Scarleteers are the people who help new incoming freshmen by giving them a tour of the building on orientation day in the fall. Many Scarleteers remember their first days here at East High, wandering around the building looking for their next class and finding out that it was right next door from where they started.

They feel they owe it to the new students to show them around so they wouldn't be as confused as they, the Scarleteers, once were. During the year the Scarleteers' duties included helping students find their classes and reassuring them about their new school.

This group of helpful students was led by Mr. Ray Patrilla, a science teacher.

Mrs. Donna Christensen and Mr. Don Graves hold the Weekly Attendance pennant with Scarlet pride.

Students also had the opportunity to join a subcommittee of the Building Climate Committee.

The Building Climate Committee was responsible for the campus cleanup, the new mirrors in the restrooms, the certificates of perfect attendance (the S.W.A.P., Student Weekly Attendance Pennant), the door-decorating contest in December, the Angel tree (a project to buy gifts for children with parents in prison) and much, much more.

The Ambassadors' Club was a club of students who were responsible for showing our visitors around and making them feel welcomed.

To be a member of this club, students had to be chosen, in the fall, on the basis of their interviews and applications. This honored group included five seniors and two students from each of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes.

Government sparks East's interests

Model United Nations' main purpose was to learn about the world communities and world problems. Eighteen bright students comprised the 1990 Model United Nations. Its sponsors were Mr. Stan Thompson and Mr. Fred Vanderly, both teachers of social science. The only requirement for membership was a willingness to do research and work outside of school hours.

Model U.N. had two projects this year. The first was Governor's U.N. Day at the state capitol, which took place in the fall. They made resolutions on U.S. positions for three issues that our country faced, and debated them with vigor.

The second activity Model U.N. was involved in was a spring trip to the University of Northern Iowa. They participated in a mock U.N. trial April 19-21. They sent two delegations to represent Austria and Italy and wrote resolutions about what the United Nations should do about their countries.

When asked about the type of students in Model U.N., Mr. Thompson commented, "They are usually outstanding students interested in research and debating topics."

Spring break, 1990, was one to be remembered for 42 of East's best and brightest juniors. They traveled from Des Moines to two of the largest, busiest cities in all America — New York and Washington, D.C., on the United Nations Tour. They visited all of the famous places that most of us just dream about. In New York, they saw the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building and the United Nations Building. While in Washington, D.C., they saw the nation's capitol and the Smithsonian Institute. Mr. Ric Powell was the sponsor. "The kids are the top leaders from 16 high schools," said Mr. Powell. The United Nations Tour was one of the most special occasions in the participants' high school careers.

Mr. Jim Bush hands Amy Black, senior, her guides for the Close-up program. Amy got first-hand experience at law-making and the political scene, in general, of Washington, D.C. She was one of 23,000 students chosen nationwide.

East's Literary Club was sponsored by Mr. John Raymond and Mrs. Jeanne Baitzer, both teachers of English. The Portal, as its magazine was called, was a literary magazine that featured students' writing, art and photography. The Portal was a great way for students' works to be seen by other students, faculty and parents. Its staff included 12 members who all had an appreciation of the arts. The last literary magazine was published in 1974.

Senior Amy Black was proud to be chosen as the only student in the Close-up program. Close-up was sponsored by Mr. Jim Bush, teacher of history. Close-up is meant to explore Washington's rich political, cultural and historical resources. Amy took part in daily study visits to such places as the House of Representatives, the Senate, the Capitol, the Supreme Court, the Library of Congress and various federal agencies. During daily seminars, Amy had the opportunity to question senators, representatives, administration officials, reporters, lobbyists and policy makers about what they did and where they stood on national and international issues. Amy said, "I saw for myself what really goes on — I got to experience hands-on what I'd only read and dreamed about before." Amy visited the Smithsonian Institute, the National Archives, Georgetown, Arlington Cemetery, the National Zoo, the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial and the Jefferson Memorial. She met with Iowa's representatives and senators and their staff members. Social skills were also taught. She learned how to live and work successfully with people of diverse cultural, social and religious backgrounds thus learning to understand differing and unique viewpoints. She was allowed to formulate her own opinions and then to express those thoughts effectively. Amy met many new people and made lasting friendships. She took part in various social activities (when time permitted), including a final banquet and dance. She was very honored to take part in such an outstanding program. "Close-up" experiences in the Close-up program helped her to shape her interests in our government and gave her a good background.

French Club: Small size, big hearts

Parlez-vous Francais? While most students don't speak French, some do. Of course, to be in French Club, you had to be enrolled in a French class. This year, the French Club sold posters and gift-wrap to help meet their budget. A budget increase was needed in order to host French students from St. Etienne, France. Several students from St. Etienne came over for two weeks during spring break.

The French Club also sponsored a Christmas dinner at Hemingway's and a year-end French extravaganza.

President Steve Zeliadt commented: "This year French club was very active and successful."

Foreign cultures invade East High

Senior Jennifer Hirschfeld studies diligently in her French class. Jennifer was our exchange student from Germany, and she loved it here.

Five students brightened the halls this year with their smiles of joy and excitement. They were our foreign exchange students. Coming from different countries to study for a year were Jennifer Hirschfeld, Germany; Ana Lehman, Columbia; Emi Fujiyama, Japan; Johannes Svilosen, Norway; and Jose Balaguer, Spain. They were asked to comment about East.

Jennifer: "East is a lot bigger. We only have 300 students. The kids here have a lot of spirit. They're great. We also don't have finals in Germany."

Johannes: "Our school has only 450 students, but I really like East."

Jose: "The kids here are really friendly. In Spain, the teachers change classes and the students stay in the room."

Ana: "My school at home is all girls, and we have to wear uniforms. I like East because it's different and it's a new experience."

Emi: "It's different, but I like it."

Senior Tanya Hinderaker, Ana's hostess said, "She was like the sister I never had. We had trouble communicating at first, but not later."

Senior Nicole Hagar, Jennifer's hostess said, "Having a foreign exchange student was fabulous! You learn things that are done completely different. It's great. I encourage everybody to look into getting an exchange student. You get so close that it's just like having another brother or sister around."

Students display leadership ability

Odyssey of the Mind, sponsored by Mr. Dave Frost, is a club that gives students the chance to compete against other high schools. The students from each school were given a project that they were to complete to the best of their abilities, and they were judged against other high schools.

The 12 students, along with over 100 others from southeastern Iowa, lived in dorms and took college classes.

Upward Bound, sponsored by Mr. Jack Bryan, counselor, is a federally funded program that helps students prepare for their future college education.

The Gifted and Talented (G/T) group was sponsored again this year by Ms. Anda Liepa. The students were selected to be in G/T by taking an I.Q. test earlier in their education. They were also selected on the basis of teacher recommendation. The purpose of the group was to provide the students with challenging opportunities that weren't otherwise given to them.

The students also had to show an interest in learning ways of developing their leadership skills. The group encouraged leadership within the school and community.

Career Beginnings is a business/college partnership with Mr. Don Graves, as sponsor. It is a helpful tool to high school students. The Career Beginnings project enables students who are otherwise unable to enter college because of a variety of barriers to secure full-time jobs or be admitted to college after finishing high school. The group is sponsored by the Des Moines Area Community College, which holds monthly workshops to help prepare the students for college.

With meetings held on Tuesdays after school, the Art Club, sponsored by an art teacher, Mr. Jerry Goodrich, included eight regularly attending members. This year the Art Club took trips to see art exhibits at places like the Art Center, Drake and Grandview. The Art Club works on out-of-class activities like service projects. The group requires no dues and no selling. Although there are strict by-laws, the club is open to everyone.

Two business groups help students

The Business Professionals of America is a vocational youth program involving students enrolled in Office Education and OE Co-op. BPA works to prepare students to enter the business world. Mr. Gene Wanek sponsors BPA here at East.

On Dec. 19, Mr. Wanek and 18 students attended the regional conference at the American Institute of Business. They also traveled to Kirkwood Community College in Cedar Rapids, Ia., for the National Leadership Conference held April 27-May 1.

Back home, the BPA participates in school and community activities that include leadership service, cooperation, knowledge, friendship, love, hope, faith and patriotism.

The New Horizons Program has been active for 21 years, helping students at risk of dropping out of school. The main goal of New Horizons is to keep students in school until they graduate. In this program, students may participate in many activities, such as home remodeling, career development and life-survival skills.

Students who are eligible to be involved in New Horizons have one or more of the following characteristics: lack of school success; economic needs; handicapped conditions and special needs, such as teenage parenting; single-parent families; limited English speaking, etc.

Assistants lend a helping hand

Some students feel that the most enlightening thing about third hour is the announcements. Just to hear that chime was the hope of many. But what actually goes on behind the speaker? Students and teachers give announcements for us to hear and respond to.

In the main office, two students lent a helping hand during each of the six class periods. They worked in the attendance office and counseling office, too. Their various jobs included running errands, sorting attendance cards, answering phones, calling people to the office and doing whatever the faculty needed them to do. These assistants worked in the offices instead of going to study hall.

The library was full of students this year. They were checking out books, studying for tests and exams, and working too. During the course of the day, two students showed up in the library to lend a hand in the work needs, such as checking out books, filing materials and helping fellow students find books upon request. Having these helpers in the library allowed the librarians to help other students and take care of library business. These students were a lot of help for faculty and students, and their work was greatly appreciated.

Organizations give great aid to EHS

PTSA, the Parent-Teacher-Student-Association, was off to another busy, successful school year. The group's main goal was to contribute to the school and assist the school when help was needed. To reach this goal, they sold memberships and East High paraphernalia. They also opened up the concession stand during the fall, winter and spring sports season. "Without this helpful organization, the school could not have the needed extras," said Mr. Dick Lester, treasurer.

Have you ever wondered who sponsors the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) basketball tournament, Pancake Day or sports banquets? Or who collects fees at the summer athletic events and has an annual membership drive? Well, it is the East High Booster Club. This organization tries to grant requests, according to the students' needs and to help East High grow in all areas, from athletics and academics to improving the school's property. The Boosters planned to have a HyVee Booster Club Day and to donate money for new bleachers for the softball field.

The president of the Booster Club for the 1989-1990 school year was Mr. John Walker. The vice-president was Mr. Paul Rogness, the secretary was Mrs. Carolyn UpChurch and the treasurer was Mrs. Nancy Grimm.

Dick Hudnall and Mrs. Nancy Hudnall work as volunteers for the PTSA; they ran the concession stands at the athletic events. Sophomore cheerleaders Missy Crouse and Melinda Lewis buy a Pepsi to quench their thirsts.

Reverse roles found in sales class

Are you a junior or a senior who is reliable and willing to promote a great image of East High School and interested in ads, sales and marketing? How would you like to turn into a sales-person by simply stepping into a classroom, and earn money by doing it? Mrs. Nancy Hansen runs her class by reversing both the teacher's and students' roles. The class covers a wide range of knowledge, including demonstrations of products, reimbursements for expenses, math, sales math, math and selling, sales tax, commission and the ABC's of selling (Always Be Closing). The students (salespeople) earn a 5 percent commission up to $300 and a 7.5 percent commission over $300. Also, there is a 60-cent-per-day allowance for auto mileage.

A special "thank you" and great appreciation should be expressed to over 300 reliable businesses in the East High district that purchase ads to support East High activities like The Quill.

EEE, Afro, Science Clubs make way

The Expanded Experiences at East Club (EEE) should be commended for their work. The Triple E group, sponsored by Mrs. Linda Saddoris and Mrs. Donna Christensen, helped keep the north courtyard looking beautiful.

The group meets, as the need arises, in room 601 N. The 36 members of the club provide service to East High and its community.

The Afro Club, sponsored by Mrs. Vallery Griffis, was a big success this year. "The purpose of the Afro Club is to learn about ourselves, to discover where we come from as Afro-Americans and to learn more about our motherland, Africa," said Leslie Cason, junior.

The group meets on Thursdays at 7:30 in room 118M. To join, all you need to do is come to the meetings.

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Ray Patrilla, had one main purpose: to promote interest in science outside the classroom. The club participates in science activities that are not possible while in a school setting.

"The purpose of the Computer Club is to explore the world of Computer Science. This includes programming in BASICS, as well as trips to local businesses and computer science fairs," said Mr. Andy Shaffer, sponsor of the club.

The club meets on Mondays after school in room 651N. To join the club, simply come to one of the meetings. "If students are considering a career in Computer Science or some other related field, this would be a good place to start," said Mr. Shaffer.

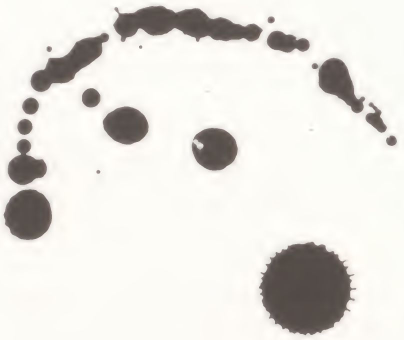
Fun interacting with education

PEOPEL PE, the Physical Education Opportunity Program for exceptional learners, started out the year with a variety of many fun activities. Monthly, they rotated among many areas: flag football, basketball, soccer, dodge ball, swimming, roller-skating and bowling.

This year, like years in the past, they had two parties: Halloween and Christmas. The students had an enjoyable time at both parties.

The PEOPEL PE group included 38 work-study students and 38 peer helpers. The helpers were mixed with work-study students and paired with partners to help in activities, but also to help in developing new friendships! These helpers must show an interest in the class, maintain good grades and be recommended by a teacher.

A couple of new things sprang up this year. The group planned to attend Ruby Van Meter School to help with the special education program there for the entire day; they also planned to visit children at some local hospitals. In addition to the preceding activities, the peer helpers were involved in forming a leadership group for students against substance abuse. They attended a one-day workshop at the Howard Johnson's Motel in Merle Hay for that purpose.



PEOPEL PE Students and helpers sing Christmas carols and express much excitement during the holiday season at their annual Christmas party.

TLC Campus Life excel into a new year, 1990

Teen Leadership Connection concerns the stress and uncertainty of daily life which often prevent our having a natural, good feeling about ourselves. The ultimate goal of this group is to promote positive behavior without chemical dependency.

Every Friday morning members met and discussed ideas for promotion with their advisor, Mrs. Dorothy Hall. This year, along with Student Government, they sponsored the clothes drive for the YESS (Youth Emergency Shelter Services). On Dec. 20, they again sponsored the "Tie-one-on" program against drunk driving.

Campus Life is the gathering of Christian kids. They met at a member's house every Monday night to discuss a variety of everyday news and controversies. This year they took two enjoyable trips, traveling to Minnesota and Florida. They enjoyed skiing and visiting Disney World.

Students get ready for working

"Preparation for your future," that is a way to define Central Campus. Central Campus is a learning center for all Des Moines high school students who choose to take classes there. They go to their regular high school for half of the day, then attend Central Campus for the rest of the day. At Central Campus they choose the career that they plan to pursue after they graduate from high school.

A variety of careers may be studied at Central Campus. From the different pictures on this page, you can see a few of the careers that may be studied. It is difficult to succeed in many careers of today. With the pre-training that students get at Central Campus, they have a better chance at success.

Blasting the airwaves! That was what junior Tony Grimm learned to do in his Radio Announcing class. Taking this class at Central Campus will help to prepare him for a future in Radio Announcing.

Junior Marcia McCoy practices taking junior Lisa Wilkinson's blood pressure. This was one of the many different skills that students learned during their nursing course.

Halt! AFJROTC marches in step

The Air Force Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps class is one tough course. Only hard work and effort get students through it. Students drill almost every day. On days off from drills, students learn how to work on control aircraft.

The class isn't meant to be a recruiting class. In fact, many activities done aren't related to the course at all: The AFJROTC class participates in telethons such as "Toys for Tots," "Bowl-a-thon" and the "Jerry Lewis Telethon." They carry the flag for sporting events, dances and other similar events. They even build and launch their own rockets in the spring.

AFJROTC teaches responsibility and self-discipline to the students. It reveals the advantages and disadvantages of military life. This was the last year it was to be offered at East.

Play Production performs perfectly

The 1989-90 Play Production crew accomplished much in their pursuit of theatrical excellence. Sponsored by Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, the group produced "The Beverly Hillbillies" in the fall, as well as the spring musical.

Aside from putting on plays, the group also had a secondary function: teaching self-confidence, whether performing in front of large or small audiences. Apart from acting, the crew also fulfilled several other functions, including setting up scenery and assisting with makeup.

Of the group, senior Lisa Ludwig commented, "It has helped me build my ego — being able to portray another character — and I receive a feeling of gratification and a sense of doing a job well done."

Junior Shera Street, Melody Ristau, Chad Wilson, Chad Knoop, Eric Reeb and Lisa Day act out a scene from "The Beverly Hillbillies."

Sophomore Jon Overlin, as Mr. Drysdale, watches as sophomore Kim Hewitt steals the scene as Mrs. Drysdale in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

Junior Tony Grimm, senior Lisa Ludwig and senior Kristi Braden explore Jed Clampett's mansion in "The Beverly Hillbillies," the fall play.

Theater Arts entertains audiences

Senior Tammie Bassett runs through her lines as she acts in Theater Arts class.

Junior Lisa Day strikes an intense pose as she develops her acting skills during an exercise in Theater Arts Class.

By performing with the Play Production crew in the fall play and the spring musical, the 1989-90 Theater Arts group promoted teamwork and better acting and communication skills.

Besides working with Play Production students, the group also performed plays for the children at a local day-care center.

The group was sponsored by Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines. She was assisted by Mr. Kent Keating, the band director, and Mr. Jim Weaver, the vocal music director.

Said senior Nicole Lester: "The class is very demanding, but when the play is over, you feel great about doing a great job."

Stars of future shine brightly

What does it take to be a Thespian? This question is often asked by many East High students.

The International Thespian Society is a select group of high school students from all over the nation. The Thespians were sponsored by Ms. Jill Shaeffer, teacher of speech and creative writing, and Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, director of the Drama Department.

Members of the Thespian Society met during the summer for a two-week "festival" where they learned and practiced new and different drama techniques. The students were required to accumulate 10 points, including performances in two full-length school plays.

The main priority of the Drama Club, sponsored by Ms. Jill Shaeffer and Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines, was to raise funds to support the Drama Department.

The Drama Club officers were Shelley West, president; Shera Street, vice-president; Marcy Walker, secretary; and Lisa Day, treasurer.

This year the Drama Club, along with the Afro Club, sponsored a canned-food drive for the victims of Hurricane Hugo in South Carolina.

It is the irreplaceable Light and Sound Crew. Sponsored by Mr. Dave Frost, the Light and Sound Crew made sure all the equipment was running properly, enabling the functions to run smoothly.

The crew included sophomore Barret Rogness, juniors Matt Maxwell and Jason Upchurch and seniors Robert Carter, Chris Hatchitt, Doug Ripley and Mike Schatzke.

Home Remodeling this year was once again taught by Mr. Ted Christensen. Home Remodeling is a three-hour course held in both morning and the afternoon. The class gave the students 1-½ credits per semester.

Funded by New Horizons, the students of the Home Remodeling class did just as the title says: They remodeled homes.

about ACADEMICS

Beyond the extra-curricular activities, such as sports, organizations, and student life, school boils down to one thing — academics. Sometimes homework has to be a reminder of what we're really here for.

Academics is the essential element in the school foundation. East High tries to reach its potential in educating its students. Careful thought and planning are put into teachers' daily lessons to make learning interesting and eye-catching. That doesn't necessarily mean that the learning process has to be fun, but students appreciate learning more if it's intriguing. Teachers achieve this by using several devices, such as games and presentations.

Striving for excellence and achieving one's best should be each and every student's intent. East High excels at numerous things, but academics is especially featured.

Rub-a-dub-dub, two sophomores in a tub! These two sophomores, Tammie Chamberlain and Danyal Stoker, wash up in Ms. Jill Shaeffer's speech class. Their lip sinc showed how fun speech class can be.

"The Math Department has done another great job this year. It is great to teach at East, the best school in Des Moines! — Mr. Virgil Larsen, math teacher

"I find each year a challenge in class. The students are usually very eager to learn and ask very pointed questions." — Mr. Jim Hickman, math teacher

"Calculus is the hardest subject I've taken in school. It's giving me a good idea about what college will be like." — Scott Rediger, senior, calculus student

"I'm glad I decided to stay in math and I can't wait to see what challenges Algebra II has to offer." — Perry Ross, junior, geometry student

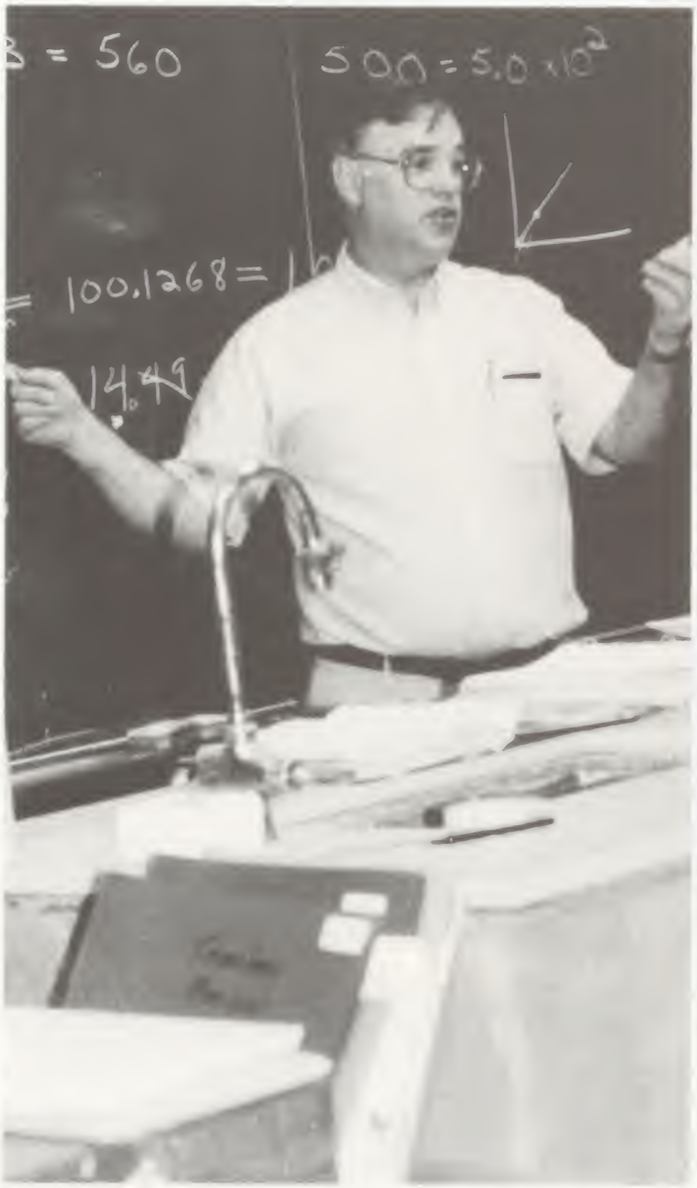
"By asking questions in pre-calculus I feel comfortable in the classroom and about my work." — Taylor Somers, junior, pre-calculus student

"The upcoming remodeling of the Science Department will make the program even more successful than it already is." — Mr. John Rudisill, science teacher

"There is a great new teacher in the science department (Mr. Pat Puetz), and he is really doing a great job." — Mr. Ray Patrilla, science teacher

"I enjoy the many labs we do. Mr. Paul Sloan gives you a chance to be independent and draw your own conclusions." — Jennifer Goodrich, junior, biology

"Overall, chemistry is an excellent class, and I advise all underclassmen to take it next year." — Dan Packard, junior, chemistry



Mr. Larry Hutzell, top left, explains some apparently mind-wracking problems. Senior Mike Crawford, bottom left, seems to be having trouble working out some problems himself, while junior Sean Dority, below, takes a short cut by using a calculator.

Shakespeare, aerobics – What do you think?

"Listening, thinking, remembering, speaking, reading, writing, learning — these are objectives of East's English classes." — Mrs. Kay McCollum, teacher of English

"English is one of the most important classes I am taking this year, because it is preparing me for college and future goals in life." — Willie Brown, senior

"English gives me a chance to express my feelings on paper and share my thoughts with my peers. It will also help prepare me for college." — Kelly Harmon, senior

"English is important to make it in the world; you need to be able to write and speak correctly. Without English you can't." — Tori Kilby, junior

"I think Senior English is a great class if you give it your all." — Aron Elder, senior

"I enjoy physical education because it gives me a chance to get some exercise and get rid of frustration that builds up during the day." — Jason Kunert, senior

"Physical Education has a wide selection of classes to choose from; I enjoy the variety of sports that we play." Errond Powell, sophomore

"Physical Education is good training to keep in shape. It exerts your physical efforts." — Pat Waters, senior

"Physical Education is a fun way for the students of East High to exert their energies. — Mr. John Walling, campus monitor

"Physical Education is a good opportunity for students to get into shape. It also provides a good way to blow off steam." — Christy VanGundy, senior

A.P. English seniors Nancy Lee, Angel Niehaus, Kim Bell and Liz Tesdell write feverishly as their instructor, Mrs. Kay McCollum, teacher of English, expounds on latest rhetorical ideas. Hey, this is important stuff! A.P. (Advanced Placement) English was designed for seniors who were college bound.

LEFT: Whoa, Aron! Get that arm out there! Diving practice is all that is on the minds of Aron Elder, senior, and Rusty Channon, junior, ready for another go at it.

BELOW: Will Jerry Wyckoff make the shot? Dave Johnson, senior, looking on, has no questions about it! Water games were a popular elective in Physical Education.

LEFT: What are they doing? Freshmen Kori Moreland, on all fours, and Jenny Enfield, with her toes in the air, do a Tiby stunt, the notorious chest balance.

Home Economics, art classes: top enthusiasm

"I think every student should take Home Economics, because relationships, communication and life skills are as important as anything else you learn in high school." — Ms. Erma Grabill, Home Ec. teacher

"Child Development has opened many new career opportunities for me. Anyone interested in children should take the course." — Marcy Peterson, senior, Child Development

"Parenting is the most enjoyable class that I've had during my three years at East. It offers a variety of activities, so you never get bored." — Missy Simon, junior, Parenting

"I'm enjoying what I'm learning in Sewing class." — Shawna Fetters, senior, Sewing

"Art helps develop the artistic talents in everyone. I'm taking art to better develop my eye for the career area that I want to go into." — Audra Solberg, freshman, Art

"The class sparks ideas that can be used in my future. Art class is fun and dirty. Everyone should take art." — Bobbi Wallace, senior, Art

"I like Art class because it lets me experiment with different forms of artwork and color." — Jim Case, freshman, Art

"The class is fun and exciting. it teaches you a lot if you're interested in design." — Sone Philavanh, senior, Art

"I like Art because it helps me know more about things around me." — Phillip Kephart, senior, Art

"I like it because it helps me develop skills that I may need in my career as a Graphic Artist." — Troy Hall, freshman, Art

ABOVE: The tools above have the power to make people world-famous artists. With a brush in one hand, paints in the other, and a will to strive, students could find themselves becoming the Picassos of the 90's. These are some of the basic tools that a painter requires. RIGHT: Jeremy Allen, sophomore, finds that practice makes perfect. He concentrates on duplicating a picture on the magazine cover perfectly. Many students have found that to take an Art class, you do not have to be a great artist. All it takes is some skill, determination and concentration.

LEFT: Lutricia Hurley, senior, concentrates on drawing the perfect picture of the still art in front of her. By the look on her face, you can see that it requires a lot of patience and skill. ABOVE: Students in Mrs. Elizabeth Cook's Parenting class examine the working condition of toys before visiting children play with them. The class teaches students about children and themselves.

Michelle Fines, senior, casts an eager smile as she sees her own creative styles come together. There are many steps that a student must take before getting to the final product in sewing.

Scarlets are wild about everything

The 1989-90 East High student body went WILD with everything they did. Whether the Scarlets came home winners or not, the Scarlet spirit was always high. Tradition rang throughout the halls of East in every possible way. In every aspect, East's brightness shined through. The student body proved to be tops, academically and athletically. The 1990 graduates of East High School will never forget what East High has instilled in them.

1. Oh, yuk! This is what senior Amie Vust looked like after the annual pie-throwing contest. 2. Sophomore Bobby Anderson raises his hand in victory after a wrestling meet. 3. The girls' varsity basketball team minus two. 4. Everyone loves an assembly, especially East High! 5. A long look at the crowded halls of East. 6. The Color Guard cheers loudly at the Christmas assembly. 7. The Steppers boogie-woogie at the state contest.

At the end of the year,
When we've all said good-by,
Shed all our tears,
Let out our sighs.
Promising we'll keep in touch
Never thought school would mean
this much.
The school year went by so fast,
Now I wish that it would last.
But now that it's happened,
Gone by all too soon.
I'm all alone,
In this dark, dreary room.
All those memories to keep in my mind,
Hoping that none of them will ever
die.
Thinking of all the time it took,
To put all the memories in this yearbook.

Tammy

You listen to rock music every night
There is a hole in your jeans at the knee.
All you ask for is love and understanding and to let you be the way you want to be.

A formal, you are not comfortable in
A dress! Are you kidding? No way!
Just give you a T-shirt and your faded jeans
That's the dress code our Tammy's way.

But Tammy's way we would not change.
Her smile is an added plus.
Our love doesn't care the way you dress.
It's what's inside that's important to us.

Good luck
We love you

COLOR GUARD SENIORS: Row 1: Nicole Hagar, Dena Pelham, Judy Lundy. Row 2: Connie Grother, Sheryl Merry. Row 3: Jill Fallis, Jennifer Stickel, Dawn Emmons.

To the 89-90 Color Guard

The unity of our colorguard is what makes us special. If you lose this unity, you will lose the things that we have tried to build over the past three years.

Preserve and cherish the lasting memories that we have made together. More than anything we want you to remember the true meaning of guard. We love everyone of you, and couldn't have done it without you!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

To The 89-90 Color Guard Seniors:

Throughout this year you watched us grow from practice to performance and show to show.

Time and again you stood by our side to strengthen and support, to direct and guide.

As the time draws near to say "good-bye"
we stop and ponder and breathe
a sigh.

For all the times you watched us
grow and taught what you knew from show to show.

Time and life will pass us by but the memories of you will never die.

The skills and discipline learned in today's NAVY are an asset wherever you go. NAVY career fields such as construction, communications, and administration provide experience in using state-of-the-art equipment that can be vital in the civilian workforce, too.

The dedicated and highly qualified NAVY people ashore help keep the NAVY'S ships operating at sea. It's teamwork at its best.

It all adds up to preparing for tomorrow in today's NAVY.

For more information on jobs, programs and benefits in today's NAVY, call the NAVY number, 262-1645.

A Continuing Partnership

Pride

It's a feeling of accomplishment. Accomplishment in learning, in making friends and in knowing the years spent at East High have been the very best.

Pride

It demands the hard work and support of everyone. This total commitment has carried East to the pinnacle. And it is the same commitment that will keep East High No.1.

Pride

Iowa Power also shares this

Pride

in the many East High progams
and their participants,

Pride

in the student body,

Pride

in the community, and

Pride

in continuing allaince with East.

The students of East are the leaders of tommorow. Leaders who will someday serve in government, business, and the community. As the journey into the future becomes reality, Iowa Power will also be there.

IOWA POWER.

Three short of a twelve
That's Who we be.
S, S, and S
Are the things meant for we.
We stick by our guys
Cuz they bring us fun
But we'll have even more
Once our senior year is DONE.
We studied all week
But come Friday night
We didn't return home till we saw a morning light.
Our motto will stand
Till long after we're gone.
Three short of a twelve will forever live on!

Current events

Fellowship of Christian Athletes was sponsored by Mr. Martin Mohler. Its purpose was to help students to better understand and cope with the cares, concerns and problems that face today's youth.
